General Franco And Loyalist Basque Officials Confer Upon Evacuation

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 29.—Negotiations were launched today between Generalissimo Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, and Loyalist basque officials for evacuation of civilians from Bilbao.

Great Britain will assist in the evacuation by placing warships at the disposal of the refugees as soon as a formal agreement has been reached.

Fears of a terrible massacre in Bilbao by insurgent aerial bombardments unless women and children are quickly evacuated from the beleaguered basque capital were expressed by Whitehall authorities.

It was revealed British warships are standing by outside the three-mile limit off Bilbao, and probably will act as a virtual convoy for evacuation ships.

Study Evacuation

A small group of members of parliament, including the Duchess of Atholl, studied possibilities of evacuating women and children from the besieged city, gravely menaced by advancing Spanish rebels.

Wilford Roberts, a liberal, speaking with authorization of the foreign office, said the British navy would help in evacuation of the non-combatants from Bilbao to St. Jean De Luz, France.

Authoritative sources stated the basque government has offered to charter ships at St. Jean De Luz to carry the Bilbao civilians to safety.

Roberts said:

"There is a feeling of concern at ghastly possibilities for 500,000 people, including 100,000 children, should Gen. Emilio Mola (insurgent commander) carry out his threat to destroy Bilbao."

Steamers Stand By

Bilbao, April 29.—Four British steamers—the Thorpenhall, Marvia, Sheaffield and Portelet—entered Bilbao Harbor today and is was believed they would be used to evacuate women and children from this beleaguered basque capital.

Meanwhile, basque government officials, admitting Durango had fallen to the insurgents, said loyalist troops were holding back the charg-

Jailed In Double Child Wedding

MRS. MARY WEST AND DAUGHTER OPAL

Double wedding of 12 and 15-year-old sisters brought the jailing of their mother at Perry, Okla., one of the bridegrooms and a storm of protest against child marriages in the state. The mother, Mrs. Mary West, 35, who had gone on a hunger strike in the jail, abandoned that and said she would take steps to annul the marriage of the younger daughter Opal West, to John L. Burns, 38. The other daughter, Jewelene, wed Harry Carter, 35. According to Mrs. West, "Burns talked me into it. He knew Opal was only 12." Opal said that she never loved John and that he "talked me into marrying him." Mrs. West and Opal are shown above.

Congress Sentiment Is Sharply Divided Upon Budget Cut Proposal

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Congressional sentiment was sharply divided today over the administration proposal for a limited 15 per cent budget cut, subject to restoration by President Roosevelt.

Republicans attacked the proposal as a "Dictatorship" measure which would not achieve economy. Some Democrats also expressed doubt that congress should surrender its power over the nation's purse strings.

Democratic leaders in the house swung back of the plan and predicted its approval.

Surrender Power To President

"What this plan does is merely to surrender the power of congress over appropriations to the president," said Rep. Reed (R) of New York. "It is a confession by the Democratic leadership that they cannot effect economy.

"We already have a dictatorship in most things and this would transfer the power over the nation's treasury from congress to the president. When we voted the president authority to spend $5,000,000,000 he used it to buy congress body and soul. The same thing would happen again."

But Rep. Cannon (D) of Missouri, spokesman for the administration on the proposal, declared it offers a practical way to save $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 in the next year.

Claims To Foresee Economies

"The president, after a survey, will make economies where they can be best effected," said Cannon. "At one stroke congress slashes 15 per cent except for statutory obligations. You can't cut the national debt, veterans' compensation, sal-

Basque Front Is Scene Of Greatest Activity In Spanish Civil War

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, April 29.—Insurgent claims of a virtual "walk-over" following rebel occupation of Durango vigorously denied in Spanish government advices from the Basque battlefront today.

Loyalist sources reported from Bilbao that rebel troops were bringing great pressure to bear on the Guernica sector north of Durango but that loyalist forces were vigorously resisting.

From Barcelona came reports that a government patrol, despite heavy rebel fire, opened the sluice gates of the Pina canal, inundating a large tract of insurgent territory.

The Barcelona defense committee issued a communique stating that on the Aragon front government forces bombed artillery positions of the insurgents at Olivar De Perdiguera and also barraged military objectives at Quinto.

More Killed In Madrid.

The rebels, said the communique, bombed loyalist positions at Monte Corenro.

Meanwhile, Madrid counted seven dead and 19 wounded as a result of the latest rebel bombardment of the capital. The shelling—more intense than usual—lasted two hours.

Flood Danger At Wheeling Passes, Citizens Start To Clean Up Debris

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., April 29.—With the Ohio river receding slowly here and several feet below its 45.9 foot crest, Wheeling today mobilized its clean-up forces for the third time in 13 months. Industry and transportation put their men to work preparing for normal resumption of operation.

Although at its crest the water was only three feet lower than last January's flood, comparatively little damage was done, outside of considerable loss to agriculture in the Ohio river valley.

Flood refugees today returned to their water-soaked homes on Wheeling Island, where the water covered the highest street. It also reached hundreds of homes in South and East Wheeling and was moving into the business district when the crest was reached.

Committee Will Report Against Court Proposal

Three More Senators On Judiciary Committee Are Definitely Against Plan

MAKE POSITION CLEAR ON ISSUE

Compromise Seems Only Hope For President's Court Increase Plan

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Definitely committed against President Roosevelt's supreme court bill, the Senate Judiciary committee today debated the Norris proposal to end the court's power to declare legislation unconstitutional by a majority vote.

The plan offered by Senator Norris, veteran Nebraskan Progressive, would call for a better than two-thirds majority of the court to declare any state law or act of congress unconstitutional. It would require a 7-to-2 vote by the present nine-justice court or an 11-to-4 vote by a 15-justice court to hold laws unconstitutional. Norris was spurred to the proposal by his opposition to 5 to 4 decesions.

Administration Set-Back

Administration leaders, meanwhile, rallied from the loss of three hitherto "non-committal" senators on the committee, Senators McCarran (D) of Nevada, Hatch (D) of New Mexico, and O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming. Their announced opposition definitely assured an unfavorable effort by the committee on the proposal to add six new justices to the court.

The opposition now lists 46 senators who have delcared against the president's plan. They need but three more votes to defeat the bill in the senate.

Fresh rumors of compromise started in the wake of this development. McCarran and Hatch both have proposed compromises only to have them condemned both by administration leaders and spokesmen for the opposition.

Compromise Considered

One administration leader said he had polled the senate and found 56

Milk Control Bill Signed By Earle

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Although there will be no commission to administer it until Monday night, milk control was placed on a permanent basis in Pennsylvania today.

And, it was done so by means of the strangest series of circumstances the 132nd legislature has witnessed, with the Earle administration admittedly resorting to "steam-roller" parliamentary tactics that developed into a virtual coup d'etat.

Gov. George H. Earle signed the measure, introduced by Rep. J. Harold Arnold, D., Fayette, last night but failed to name three members of the new commission to regulate it.

This, however, will not in any way affect the regulation of the milk industry. The chief executive is expected to send his appointments to the senate for confirmation Monday night.

Special Session Looms As Legislature Seems Likely To Quit May 21

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Gov. George H. Earle's "inner circle" today formulated strategy to push as much of its "mandate" program as possible through the 132nd legislature for sine die adjournment three weeks hence, on May 21.

This decision by the Democratic high command gave indication that the Earle administration was amenable to compromise on several controversial issues and was practically resigned—although admissions are private ones—to the inevitability of a special session of the legislature to provide for relief.

"They can't escape it," said Sen. Edward J. Thompson, Centre, Democratic whip.

Mrs. Simpson Is Sure Of Divorce Decree Monday

LONDON, April 29.—Attorneys for Mrs. Wallis Simpson were informed today that "there is no possibility of last minute intervention" before her decree of divorce from Ernest Simpson is made absolute Monday.

So confident are the famous American's solicitors that the final decree is all but in her hands, they probably will not even send a representative to Monday's court session, it was reliably indicated.

"No counsel has yet been instructed, and the firm probably will not be represented," an informant close to the case, being handled by Theodore Goddard & Co., said.

Mrs. Simpson's case is among 86 which will come up before Justice Bucknill. It appears on the official list simply as Simpson, W., vs. Simpson, E. A.

Roosevelt Stops At Biloxi, Miss.

PRESIDENT ABOUT READY FOR CRUISE

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BILOXI, Miss., April 29.—In a sentimental interlude, President Roosevelt paused at this historic gulf city today to make a pilgrimage to the home of Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

Biloxi gave the President a rousing welcome as he stepped off his special train at nine a. m. Mayor Louis Braun and other local dignitaries escorted him by motor to the southern shrine, now maintained as the Beauvoir Confederate Soldiers' home.

From the Davis home Mr. Roosevelt was to motor to Gulfport and reboard the train for New Orleans. Elliott, his second son, who will accompany him on a 10-day fishing cruise in the Gulf of Mexico, and Gov. Richard Leche of Louisiana, will meet the President at Gulfport.

Brother-In-Law Of Lindbergh On Brief Visit

Mr. Morgan is returning to Great Britain shortly to attend the coronation but will return in June when the proposed museum project will be pushed on this side of the Atlantic.

He was married to Elizabeth Morrow, daughter of the late Dwight Morrow. Not long after Mr. and Mrs. Morgan returned to Wales, Mrs. Morgan died. When Col. Lindbergh took his wife and son Jon across the Atlantic in a self imposed exile, they first stayed at the Morgan home in Wales.

Huge Crowd Attends St. Vitus Dinner Event

More than 2,000 persons attended the twenty-eighth annual St. Vitus church dinner and entertainment, Wednesday night in The Cathedral. Without a doubt, the affair was the biggest and most successful social event ever sponsored by the church.

The Cathedral took on a true Italian atmosphere as a corps of winsome young ladies, neatly attired in snowy white uniforms, served pound after pound of genuine spaghetti prepared "a la Napolitan" by some of the outstanding Italian-American culinary experts of this city.

The smell of hot delicious spaghetti seasoned to perfection, pervaded throughout the crowded Cathedral. The dinner started at 5:30 o'clock and was in progress past 9 o'clock. Miles and miles of the famous Italian dish, if joined, would probably extend from here to Jallopy, left the hot kitchen and graced the long, neatly arranged tables. Approximately 440 pounds were used. Antipasto, peas al la ragu, meat balls, salad, ice cream, cake and coffee were served in addition to the spaghetti The dinner was everything it was press-agented to be.

The remainder of the program arranged by the Rev. Fr. S. F. Anuskiewicz, general chairman, and his committees, included bingo, dancing cake walk and a floor show. The program was arranged to suit the most fastidious. One of the highlights was the cake walk. Carl

HITS FAYETTE PRISON BOARD

Board Member Assails Action

Says Inexperienced Men Placed On Job As Turnkeys At Uniontown

BLAMES JAIL-BREAK ON THIS SITUATION

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 29. Fayette county's prison board today was charged by a member of that board with having been criminally negligent in the fatal shooting of State Trooper Joseph Hoffer, who died Tuesday after a gun battle with an escaped Fayette county prisoner.

Commissioner John Rankin indicated he would call for a re-hearing on the conduct of two of the turnkeys at the prison at the time of the prison break, Melvin McCormick and John Matta.

"If possible I will see that criminal charges are instituted against them," said Commissioner Rankin.

"Both Matta and McCormick testified at the prison board hearing they had no previous experience as officers, prior to their appointment," charged Rankin.

Blames Board

"That is a responsible position and one that requires not only experience but men physically capable of handling themselves in a creditable manner during an emergency," Rankin continued. "Members of the prison board knew these facts when they appointed these men. Doesn't that make the board criminally responsible?"

Rankin said he had not voted to put McCormick and Matta in their positions.

The board is composed of the three Fayette county judges, three commissioners, county controller, district attorney and sheriff.

SPECIAL SESSION LOOMS; LEGISLATURE MAY QUIT MAY 21

pressure in forcing through the Arnold milk control bill. The bill was signed by the governor last night.

All of Governor Earle's "must" program is now ready for action in both houses. A preliminary report of the anthracite coal commission studying "bootleg" coal was expected momentarily and legislation, if necessary, to carry out its recommendations could be drafted on short notice.

Portions of the chief executive's program already enacted includes his $161,000,000 emergency tax program.

See End of Session May 21.

Democratic leaders frankly, although privately, admit that nothing can be gained by prolonging the session beyond May 21.

"Most of the legislators' minds are already made up as to what they want," said a Democratic leader in the senate. "We'll just get through as much as we can and compromise on the rest."

Accordingly, a resolution was expected to be drawn up for approval of the Democratic caucus Monday night calling for sine die adjournment on May 21. This does not mean that the legislature must abide by the resolution, if it is adopted. It does mean, however, that everything possible will be done to bring this about.

The Earle administration in at least one instance is at the complete mercy of congress. Governor Earle's relief estimate of $98,000,000 stands or falls on what congress will eventually do on that subject.

The state's budget was drawn on the basis that there would be no belt tightening on the part of congress, that business will continue to pick up, that no emergencies, such as strikes or major floods, take place.

See Specail Session.

Thus, if for any reason the $98,000,000 relief estimate will not hold, a special session will be in order. More than that, if a special session should be called for relief purposes, the legislature, it was pointed out, could plunge into the bootleg coal problem in a more thorough manner.

On Governor Earle's plan to reorganize and consolidate all agencies administering relief and public assistance, indications were the chief executive will be forced to make only a few concessions. Democratic leaders were talking of a compromise in the manner in which local county assistance boards will be selected. A powerful senate group was for having the governor appoint part of the membership and leave the rest up to the local electorate. Civil service, or at least a portion of it, was also expected to be scrapped.

The chief executive's labor legislation was pretty well decided upon and action was expected next week on most of it. The regulatory laws for public utilities were also expected to move next week.

A large-scale slum clearance program, however, appeared unlikely. President Roosevelt was understood to have placed the allocation of federal funds for that purpose on the "postponed calendar".

Governor Earle, it was learned, has given the "go signal" on all of his platform proposals, but there was only a remote possibility that all of them will go through without a scrap, and it was expected that a portion will go down as "unfinished business".

There is also talk of the possibility of calling a several months' recess rather than a special session, all depending upon what congress does and the anthracite commission purposes.

MILK CONTROL BILL SIGNED BY EARLE

Dr. Howard C. Reynolds, was believed slated for the administration axe.

Reports are that the administration is considering the appointment of a milk expert from out of the state to fill the third post. The bill would permit this to be done.

In one sweeping blow, the Earle administration completely snowed under an insurgent rural bloc which was successful—for a few days—in inserting a group of amendments which would have drastically changed the purpose of the measure, according to Democratic leaders.

In its enacted form, the Arnold bill provides for:

Permanent control of the milk industry; continuation of price fixing for consumers and producers; bonding of all dealers; a new commission whose members will have staggered terms; and coordination under the new commission of the milk-testing and weighing activities of the agriculture department.

of the 95 senators ready to support a compromise, authorizing appointment of two new justices to the court. He added, though, the president thus far had refused to accept such a compromise and without his consent, it probably could not be adopted. His poll incidentally was not challenged by opposition leaders, who frankly concede a two-justice bill would get many more votes than the president's own plan.

In opposing the president's bill, McCarran and O'Mahoney attacked its propriety while Hatch assailed its constitutionality.

McCarran said it would set a dangerous precedent and destroy public confidence in the court. O'Mahoney declared an increase in the court was neither "necessary or desirable." He added that if one president were allowed to "pack the court," other presidents would do likewise in the future. Hatch said, "congress has no constitutional power to enlarge the supreme court in order to change its views."

The committee heard Norris, in secret session, explain his plan.

Cialella led the event. Dancing was in vogue from 9 until 12. Harry Hammond and his Keystone Serenaders provided a program of snappy tunes that scored a decided hit with the throng. Featuring the affair was a floor show presented by a bevy of talented young girls, under the direction of Miss Billie E. Glenn. The group put on a show that was really a "knockout." The entertainment ended with the awarding of two door prizes.

Needless to repeat, last night's dinner and entertainment was easily the most successful occasion ever held by the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, energetic pastor of the south side church, and his parishioners. Through the columns of The News, the Rev. Fr. DeMita, and his assistant, the Rev. Fr. Anuskiewicz thank the populace of New Castle, New Castle News, merchants, committeemen and all those who aided in making the twenty-eighth dinner and entertainment successful. The proceeds will go towards re-decorating St. Vitus church.

Those who took part in the floor show:

ing rebels with rifle and machine gun fire as they retreated from Durango.

Morale Stiffening

The government forces, officials stated, now are occupying a second line of defense which had been prepared in advance. They said the retreat was carried out successfully and that the morale of the basque troops, which had been shaky, is now stiffening as a result of the "fate of Guernica."

This was a reference to loyalist contentions German rebel planes bombarded Guernica mercilessly, killing 800 non-combatants, including women and children, and leaving the basque mecca a flaming ruin.

Evacuation of the town of Lequietio was partly carried out, it was stated, being accomplished via the sea. A while fleet of fishing boats and trawlers was said to be removing civilians to safety.

When the basque troops evacuated Durango, it was stated, all troops and military and other stores were taken to the rear according to plan and without loss.

Mostly Italians

Rebel deserters, according to officials here, said the insurgent brigade that occupied Durango was mostly composed of Italians and commanded entirely by Italian officers who treat their countrymen very well, but handle the Spanish soldiers "like coloniel troops."

Authorities claimed that basque troops still are holding mountain strongholds flanking Durango to the south.

Meanwhile, the steamer Backworth arrived with a good cargo which was a present from British Laborite members of parliament.

aries, federal grants for road, the lighthouse service and many similar activities. Others can be reduced to almost nothing."

Rep. Snell of New York, Republican leader, will oppose the administration plan. He said:

"I don't want to give the president any more authority. Every act, every policy of the president in the last five years has been to spend more money. I don't want to depend on him now."

Rep. Ludlow (D) of Indiana, said he may support the plan but expressed a belief congress should take the responsibility.

"The people seeking funds to spend would simply go to the White House instead of to congress," he said.

Rep. May (D) of Kentucky, also declared that "if an economy bill were brought into congress it would be a much more direct way of accomplishing the objective."

Republicans continued to back the 10 per cent slash urged by Rep. Taber (R) of New York.

The house faced a fight over the $416,000,000 army appropriation bill, with a "little army bloc" seeking a coalition with economy-minded members to cut the appropriation. Rep. Boileau (P) of Wisconsin, will make a vigorous fight to reduce the appropriation.

Washington, Pa., Realtor Held

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 29.—Carl Smith, a Washington realtor, today was indicted on a charge of fraudulent conversion for allegedly withholding $12,000 in rents due the State Banking Department.

Smith has filed a counter-claim, alleging the commonwealth failed to pay him a fee for obtaining a purchaser for the Washington Trust company building here.

The charges against Smith were filed by the State Banking Department at the instigation of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti.

To Prevent Sale Of Bootleg Coal

(International News Service)

ALBANY, N. Y., April 29.—A bill designed to prevent shipment and sale of bootleg coal in New York state was before Governor Herbert H. Lehman today.

Passed by the senate 48 to 1, the bill requires certificate of origin for all coal brought into the state. It was passed recently by the lower house.

there were no casualties in the hotel.

The shells, mostly four and six-inches, covered a wide area, and many of them dropped at central points throughout the city.

At Andujar it was reported government troops occupied Los Prados on the Fuente Ovejuna sector of the Cordoba front. This success, it was stated, will facilitate consolidation of the government line west of the important junction of Penarroya.

Continue Basque Front Attack.

Salamanca, April 29—Advancing Spanish insurgents continued their assault on the wavering Basque front today, according to officials here, pressing forward beyond captured Durango in fresh attempts to attain their objective, the Basque capital of Bilbao.

Insurgent authorities stated more than 300 loyalist dead were abandoned in trenches around Durango.

Columns responsible for occupation of Durango, considered a key point in the drive to Bilbao, moved out to the north, seized two villages five miles distant and occupying Mount Motrella, 10 miles north of Durango and five miles east of Guernica.

Rebel headquarters here claimed insurgent troops continued the advance to a point one mile from Guernica, capturing a total of 12 villages as they charged forward in the face of crumbling resistance.

Speak Of Dreadful Tragedies.

An official communique issued here stated Durango had been completely occupied and that the Basque fugitives "speak of dreadful tragedies of such towns at Guernica, burned and destroyed by reds while our troops were over ten miles away.

"Our soldiers are indignant at false reports spread by reds who, after destroying the towns, try to blame our air force, which during the past few days has been unable to operate owing to fog."

(Editor's note: Previous reports from loyalist and British sources claimed the Basque holy city of Guernica had been subjected to a merciless bombing by rebel German planes, with the town completely gutted and some 800 civilians, including hundreds of women and children, literally roasted alive and torn to pieces.)

The rebels approached within striking distance of Guernica, it was stated, following capture of Amoroto.

Officials said the latest advances enabled the rebels completely to break the Biscay-Guipuzcoa fronts extending over more than 62 miles. The Basque route was termed "complete" with capture of Durango.

"How can we keep industry from moving South?" asks a New Englander. Just let Canada give property the protection denied in the States.

Gas, Gas All the Time, Can't Eat or Sleep

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never felt better." —Mrs. Jas. Filler.

Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shonb, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli."

Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one spoonful relieves GAS and constipation. Eckerd's

CLUB HEARS LETTER FROM CAPT. HAMILTON

A graphic description of his trip to Indo-China where he will be stationed for the next three years with the French Foreign Legation, was read from Captain Edgar G. Hamilton, by his mother, Mrs. C. L. Goodman, of the Guerard apartments, North Mill street, Wednesday, when she entertained associates in the Circulating Book Club.

Captain Hamilton was on the Red Sea at the time this particular letter was penned, although his mother has received many as interesting from various ports and since he landed at Tonkin, Indo-China.

He speaks of the extremely dry and torrid climate there and the low cost of necessities, white linens particularly as the men purchased a quantity for new uniforms.

Another interesting excerpt concerned the wonder of the radio, for one day at sea thousands of miles away, Captain Hamilton happened to tune in at Schenectady, N. Y., and heard all about the strikes in Detroit and the east at that time.

Reading of the letter was just a feature of the afternoon's entertainment for the group which previously had enjoyed a tasty dessert at 2 o'clock. Aides in serving were Mrs. George A. Carpenter and Mrs. Harry McKee, Jr.

The next meeting falls on Coronation Day, May 12, in the home of Mrs. H. A. Rugh, of North Jefferson street.

In Class Play

Miss Eleanor Van Buren, formerly a student in Benjamin Franklin junior high school, this city, has a major role in the senior class play, "The Fixer Upper", at New Wilmington.

The play, a comedy in three acts, will be presented by New Wilmington high school Friday and Saturday evenings. Eleanor has the part of "Aunt Fannie".

MUCH ACCOMPLISHED AT HOSPITAL SEWING

A splendid turnout of Hershey Auxiliary members of the First Presbyterian church for the sewing of articles at Jameson Memorial hospital on Wednesday morning resulted in a large amount of work being accomplished.

The organization has been sewing faithfully throughout this month, and have much to their credit, with many needed garments completed and ready for use.

It is announced that the work will be continued through the month of May, with the women of the auxiliary to the Medical Society of Lawrence county taking charge as hostesses. The same hours, from nine in the morning until 12 o'clock, noon, will be observed, and the first session is called for Wednesday, May 12. Other women interested are invited to join the auxiliary group in the solarium and share their services.

GUEST ATTENDS MEET OF. W. E. CLUB GROUP

Mrs. Joseph DePuy of Canton, O., joined her former club associates, the W. E. club, for a social time on Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jesse Dufford on Huron avenue.

Capturing the top score prizes were Mrs. Ben Hartland, Mrs. Harold Good and Mrs. Charles Rinehart. The guest trophy was presented Mrs. DePuy, who is visiting in this vicinity for several days.

After partaking of a dainty repast served at a later hour, the group planned to gather again on Thursday, May 13, with Mrs. Clarence Hollis on Huron avenue. The hostess was aided by her daughter Geraldine with the menu.

LE DEJEUNER CLUB AT HOYLAND HOME

A beautifully appointed 7 o'clock dinner was served members of the Le Dejeuner club Wednesday evening in the East street home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hoyland, hosts. The latter used the spring motif in the decorating of her small tables, a cluster of daffodils and tulips gracing the center, guarded on either side by tall yellow tapers.

Bridge held sway during the time that ensued, the awards falling to Mrs. J. J. Carson and W. A. Hoyland. The traveling prize was won by John Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton E. Reiber will receive members in their new residence at 2½ East Moody avenue, for their next meeting on Wednesday, May 26.

EAST BROOK CLUB HEARS McCULLOCH

East Brook Garden club held the May meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. S. A. Black and Mrs. Charles Black.

Mrs. John Robinson, the president, was in charge, with Mrs. S. A. Black having devotionals. At the business session, Miss Edna Waddington was elected recording secretary to take the place of Mrs. James M. Guthrie, who has moved to Oneonta, N. Y.

The program was turned over to Mrs. Vane Johns, who read a very lovely poem entitled "April," describing the early spring flowers. Roll call was answered by naming "New Flowers I Hope To Raise." Mrs. W. O. Mayberry was welcomed as a new member by the group.

The guest speaker of the evening was H. R. McCulloch, Lawrence county farm agent, who gave an enlightening talk on "Garden Soil." Afterwards he answered many questions that had been problems to various members, the opportunity to hear him being greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Linnie Hinkson's paper on "This is the Way We Plant," was also instructive and interesting. Mrs. Robinson read a letter from Ward's in regard to a merit Ward medal won by Mrs. H. H. Marlin in the National Flower Show. The club was proud to learn of this honor bestowed upon one of their number. The seed committee distributed seeds and bulbs at this time.

A very delicious lunch was served by the hostesses with a miniature bouquet of violets as a favor for each guest, among whom was Mrs. H. R. McCulloch.

On Tuesday, May 25, the next meeting will take place in the home of Mrs. J. A. Young, with her daughter Ruth, hostess. This meeting will be in the nature of a wild flower treat, the members deciding to assemble at 10 in the morning and then have a tureen luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Williams Here

Mrs. Alex C. Williams (Frances Seavy,) of Philadelphia, is here for a weeks visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Seavy, of Highland avenue and other members of her family. She is staying at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Garland, of Edgewood avenue.

LUNCHEON EVENT AT FIRST CHURCH

Amid a springlike and very attractive setting of the season's flowers, bowls of hyacinths and jonquils on the long tables, and other graceful bouquets of yellow forsythia on the windowsills and about the rooms, the fifth fellowship luncheon was held Wednesday in the First M. E. church.

About 100 women attended the very successful event in charge of Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer and Mrs. Ralph Shiner, assisted by a corps of capable helpers.

When the group was seated, Mrs. Margaret Shields asked the invocation. At a business session, Mrs. Grace W. Crawford, president of the Guild which is sponsoring the luncheons, presided. Miss Ida Schnackel had the devotionals and the program following was very entertaining.

Dr. W. A. Womer gave an instructive talk on "Compulsory Health Insurance" which was beneficial.

A playlet entitled "Hiring a Schoolmarm", coached by Mrs. Carrie Jeffery Roberts, was screamingly funny. Mrs. Roberts took the part of the schoolmarm to perfection, and the rest of the cast included other able players, Mrs. H. W. Burgess, Mrs. Delace Cole, Miss Mary Alice White, Mrs. Bessie Pitzer and Mrs. J. H. Templeton, this group representing prominent women in the church who decided they'd have some say about the choice of a schoolmarm themselves.

A second group consisted of Mrs. Harry Ward, Mrs. Vennor Bright, Mrs. B. F. Steinbrink and Mrs. Ralph Shiner comprising the school board men. Personality and good looks swayed this group in favor of the educator, while the women argued they wanted one who could bake pies, sew and do countless things a woman is called upon to do, as it was the lot of one to have a son who always fell in love with his schoolteacher and she wanted a good housewife.

All in all, the afternoon's entertainment from the luncheon clear through the program was par excellenec and credit for its success goes to Mrs. Pitzer, Mrs. Shiner and the various committees: kitchen, Mrs. Alfred Robbins, Mrs. Wesley Stewart, Mrs. H. C. Stillings, Mrs. Fred Shepard, Mrs. Harry Shepard, Mrs. Mary Robinson, Mrs. Russell Shields and Mrs. Carl Paisley.

Dining room, Mrs. Earl Reeves, Mrs. L. W. Platt, Mrs. W. A. Hoffmaster, Mrs. Joseph Hartland, Mrs. Paul Pattison; phone, Mrs. W. H. Shaddick, Mrs. Lawrence Pangratz, Mrs. J. Myron Rice and Mrs. J. C. Pherson.

Two guests from out of town were present: Mrs. F. F. Neigh of Chautauqua, N. Y., and her daughter, Mrs. John Horton of Chicago.

The next affair of the kind will take place on May 26, when Mrs. J. H. Templeton and Mrs. B. F. Steinbrink will be hostesses.

W. S. L. Club

Mrs. Lawrence Ritchie received a coterie of friends known as the W. S. L. club Monday evening, in her home on Moore avenue.

Bingo was the favored pastime, the prizes going to Mrs. Sadie Boyle and Mrs. Charles Micco. Luncheon with red and white appointments was served.

Tuesday, May 11, the next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. O. W. Calderwood, Round street.

SECTION TWO AT MONTGOMERY HOME

Mrs. W. H. Montgomery delightfully entertained members of Section Two of the First Christian church, when they gathered in her Walmo home, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Montgomery, aided by Mrs. Eugene Johnson served a delicious luncheon.

A short business session followed, with important matters being discussed. The remaining portion of the day was spent informally with social chat the main diversion.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting in May, with Mrs. Frank Nessle and Mrs. Ralph Montgomery as hostesses.

Miss Madeline Paglia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Paglia, of 103 East Lutton street, was a lovely bride for her marriage to Frank Ruozzo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ruozzo, of 20 North Wayne street, this morning at 9:30 o'clock, in St. Vitus church. Miss Cora Amadio, as maid of honor, was attired in an attractive green gown with harmonizing accessories and carried roses. Joseph Zumbello served as best man. Little Rose Mary Colella was flower girl and Carl Mantz, of Ellwood City, was ring bearer.

At noon today, a delicious wedding dinner was served to members of the immediate families and a few invited guests, in the bride's home. Sometime this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Paglia will depart for a honeymoon in St. Louis, Missouri. Upon returning, they will reside at 103 East Lutton street.

ROUT THE "LEVELERS"

DR. JAMES BRYANT CONANT, president of Harvard University, recently inveighed against the "levelers" who sneer at learning as an aristocratic luxury and seek to cut college programs down to a standard of safe mediocrity.

It is a thought applicable within the economic as well as the education realm. Many an organized movement tends to place a premium on mediocre service. The talented worker is held back to protect the laggard.

No nation, especially no democracy, can afford to surrender to the "levelers." Individual ambition and competency must be encouraged by way of fostering all-around progress.

Worth while leadership cannot be created when the dominant effort is to keep everyone submerged beneath the surface of an undifferentiated mass.

BEAUTY OPERATORS FILL VITAL ROLE!

Illinois has one licensed beauty operator for about every 100 women or girls over the age of 14. That isn't as heavy a load of patrons as it sounds, because not all the women visit beauty shops as often as once in two weeks. There are some, incredible as it may be, who never go to Beauty shops at all. Yet there are probably enough patrons to keep most of the operators busy, and the number grows.

Think of all the beautification going on in Illinois and in the other states! It ought to have a good effect on public health and morale. Vocational advisers tell girls that a good appearance is one of the first steps in getting a job. Psychiatrists claim that a good appearance helps in clearing up mental cases. Heart-throb columns say it is essential to getting or keeping a husband or wife.

If all this is true, the beauty operator may well consider herself —or himself—a vital factor in the advance of civilization.

BRITAIN'S ARMAMENT TAX LOAD

Anyone who doubts that the British are in dead earnest about rearming has only to look at the tax load the Britons are willing to carry these days.

Before Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, brought in his new budget with its higher rates, the British taxpayer was shelling 22½ per cent of his income to the government in a direct tax. Beyond that he was carrying a load of "nuisance" taxes whose weight can be appraised by the size of those affecting motorists.

British motorists have been paying taxes of 16 cents on each gallon of gasoline. They also pay a horsepower tax on their autos, so set up that a man who owns a 25 horsepower car must pay $125 a year for his license.

When a nation that is paying taxes at such rates submits to still heavier taxes for the sake of rearmament, it must be admitted that such a nation is decidedly in earnest about its preparedness program.

A JUDGE LANDIS OF TRAFFIC LIGHTS

Co-ordinating highway safety efforts throughout the country so as to produce more effective results from the "three E's" of accident prevention—education, engineering and enforcement—is naturally to be desired. Reducing traffic accidents is a national problem, not one indigenous to certain sections.

To bring about co-ordinated action, however, it seems unnecessary to go to the extent of setting up a Federal Traffic Czar, as Connecticut's Motor Vehicle Commissioner urged the other day before the Greater New York Safety Council. A Judge Landis of traffic lights, cracking the whip from Washington over every city and hamlet in the land and rigidly centralizing traffic control and regulation, seems too fantastic to be workable.

A central advisory body collating motor accident statistics and giving counsel on the most efficacious methods of promoting highway safety, not in generalities, but in specific detail for local needs, might present a more effective approach to national co-operation.

SPORT FOR SPORT'S SAKE

From Baltimore comes the news that Johns Hopkins University has adopted a revolutionary sports policy. Admission fees and team guarantees for athletic contests have been abolished. From now on spectators will be privileged to attend these events free of charge, and the visiting squads will pay their own expenses, as will Johns Hopkins in the case of out-of-town games.

It is an interesting experiment certain to be watched closely by all college administrators. The major features of "commercialized" athletics will be eliminated at once. No one at John Hopkins, whether athlete or press agent, will have his eye glued on the "gate."

Of course, this kind of a program will make it quite impossible for the Baltimore institution to offer athletic scholarships, a factor which, in turn, may have rather disastrous effects insofar as the quality of the university's teams is concerned. The college, moreover, will have to compete against institutions which are not running their athletics on the same idealistic plane. And that may mean one-sided scores.

But at a time when college football in particular is feeling the brunt of much adverse criticism this attempt to purge intercollegiate competition of all sordid elements will merit the thoughtful attention of everyone interested in the sound development of American amateur sport.

A new plane can carry 75 persons at 200 miles per hour for 5,000 miles, if it makes it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD SPORTS IN MARRIAGE

PLEASE LET me pass along today some statements I made on "Parent-Parent Sportsmanship" in my book, "Building Personality in Children."

"When you are playing a game of checkers or golf you are always considerate of your fellow player. You take no unfair advantages. You do not gloat over victories, nor sulk when defeated. You honestly endeavor to be a good sport. You would rather lose than win unfairly. Each player defers to the other, and the spirit of "after you" prevails. If, perchance, you begin to play out of turn or make the slightest move outside the rules of the game, you, upon discovery thereof, humbly beg the other's pardon and prove yourself ready to go to almost any length to make amends.

"An ideal wife and husband also try to be good sports, playing the game fairly to the end, ready to volunteer admission of an error when observed, ready to apologize for having been too hasty, ready to compromise. None of us may ever nearly measure up to this ideal; but to approach it seems worth striving for.

"Many times easier it is to be a good sport in checkers, bridge or golf than to play as married mates the game of married life with each other. Very much easier, indeed, for one to be sportsmanlike in playing bridge with another man's wife or husband than with one's own. . .

More Courteous To Neighbor

"When you and I play a game with another, not a member of the family, we have the aid of convention to discipline us. We don't venture to violate accepted manners. We want approval, and we have an awful fear of disapproval.

"We might not care to admit it, but we are more sensitive to the approval and disapproval of other men and women than of our wife and husband, and more courteous, if you please, to our neighbor's wife or husband than to our own—we have to be lest we lose our social caste. My wife is just my wife; her husband is just her husband. We are prone to take each other for granted. We just expect each to allow the other to grow lax, at times, in chivalry, and to violate some rules of the game.

"Furthermore, the rules of checkers, bridge and golf are very simple and specific. . . . But in the game of being man and wife, father and mother, the rules are not so simple nor so easily discerned."

All Of Us

"GOING UP TO THE FRONT"

I remember how nervous we all were, 20 years ago on our way to The Front....I mean that Front near Verdun, in France, that Front on which massive armies of little men had been fighting, suffering and dying for nearly three years.

We heard the rumble of guns, we saw the star-shells in the heavens, we felt the shake of our own guns as they let go alongside, and we were a little nervous. Some of us frankly admitted we were scared. Others made little jokes to hide their uncertainty. Not one of us knew what was ahead of us up there at the front. We did not know what would happen to us. We did not know how we would act. We could not tell who would be a coward, who would be brave, who would stand up, who would fall down....An invisible wall stood between us and the future and we could not pierce it—as we made our way up to The Front, that unforgettable day 20 years ago.

Sometimes I have thought of that day and found its memory useful... It has occurred to me that it was not, after all, so very different from any other day I have ever known.

Because, every day of our lives, every morn and every night, we all are moving toward a Front that is below the next horizon...We hear the rumble of coming events, we see the flashes of future battle. We know what is behind us, we cannot be sure of what the future holds for us. Are we brave enough, are we wise enough? Have we patience, have we endurance? Can we dig in and defend, can we rise up and fight? And shall we know the Front when we come upon it?

Over there, that day, there was no mistaking that Front. It was lined with trenches, backed with dug-outs, held by other men. There were armies of men already there to show its presence, but in the lives we live there are times when we cannot be sure we are on the decisive Front of our own fortunes. Although each day seems so like each other, they are not truly so. But each day of our lives we march up to a Front, and each day we test our courage and our character.

In this country very often the punishment does not fit the crime. In fact the full penalty prescribed by law is often not inflicted. That old system of putting the ax right under the chin is a great thing to keep the bad ones from getting too gay—or too bad.

You can still find towns where bridge players are always polite. They are the ones that haven't yet learned to play for money.

It would be better if daylight saving time would be adopted by all towns in Western Pennsylvania or not make any change of time. If one travels from Pittsburgh to Erie by auto he will notice what we mean. You will find yourself ahead and behind time often.

When there is high water in the Neshannock people wonder why there is a high wall on the Croton avenue side and no wall on the Neshannock avenue side, where the water really would do great damage if it overflowed the bank. There is no danger of the water going over the Croton avenue side.

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

Raymond—Perfectly gentle. The only fault he's got, if any, is a habit of extending his hinder hoofs now and then.

Rexford—By extending his hinder hoofs you don't mean kicking, I hope?

Raymond—Some people call it kicking. But it's only a slight reaction of the muscles superinduced by an exuberance of animal spirits.

A drummer was traveling recently on one of those one-horse railroads that have been "in the red" so long that the trainmen have a hard time making the trains run at all. Suddenly the train stopped—without any apparent reason. There was a wait of about an hour. Then the conductor came in and, leaning over the drummer, who was in the first seat, he whispered: "Say, brother, have you got a piece of string you can let me have? We want to fix the engine."

EVEN books should be arranged with care and with a color scheme in mind. Whether they are in your living room or in your library; whether they are expensively bound or in the very plainest variety, they can, when properly placed, create a beautiful effect in your room.

Arrange your light and dark volumes so that they will be well balanced, keeping the lighter ones near the top and around the center line—first, of course, grouping them according to their subjects, keeping all of one topic together.

This will present a more interesting color pattern than will a haphazard arrangement, scattering light and dark and bright colored ones. It will also be more practical inasmuch as your books will be readily accessible if so placed.

Another point to remember is—books are more inviting and attractive when placed on open shelves rather than confined behind glass.

Dear Miss Markel—I have a pair of French windows leading from my living room to my porch. Over each window there is a transom, which I do not know how to treat. I have in mind for the Summer months having linen draperies lined with sateen and equipped with a pully so that they may be drawn across the entire windows when privacy is desired. Do you think I should have a valance covering each transom?

Answer—Put on the transoms net glass curtains matching those on the window underneath. Have no valance on your draperies, but instead a rod along the top of each transom from which the draperies will hang full-length from the top of the transom to the floor. This method will permit a maximum amount of light to enter the room and show off your windows advantageously.

All Governments Attacked.
United States No Exception.
Financial Writers United.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

PICK UP a newspaper in an European country where the press is uncensored. Read the financial columns. You will imagine you are reading an anti-Roosevelt paper in the United States.

Virtually every financial column is against the government, except in Germany, Austria, Italy, Hungary or the Soviet Union. In the dictator countries it would, of course, mean death to criticize the government.

In the United States, the government is New Deal; in England, it is Tory; in France, it is mildly socialistic; in Belgium, it is mildly liberal; in Holland, it is conservative. But everywhere the financial writers and the financiers attack the government as causing instability.

Read, for a moment, these excerpts from the column of S. W. Alexander, financial writer of the London Evening Standard, and see whether they do not seem to be from an anti-Roosevelt American paper rather than from a conservative paper in England attacking the Tory government because it isn't Tory enough!

"The stock markets today have not recovered to any extent so far from the rumors of yesterday.

"The reason is that many people believe that something may be done at any time to alter the value of paper in terms of gold.

"The only way of permanently quieting the situation is for the British government to stabilize the currency and to go back to the gold standard at 140s an ounce for gold.

"The events of the past 48 hours show once again that under the present conditions of instability business men conducting perfectly genuine business are at the mercy of every breath that comes either from a British or a foreign politician.

"It is a most dangerous and unsatisfactory situation. It increases the hazards both of business men and workpeople."

CORRECT?

Are the financial writers correct in their assumption that governments must stabilize their currencies on an old basis?

Some of the best students of economics, including the eminent British Keynes, do not believe so.

There certainly are terrible hazards in the present situation. The only government in the world that is building up its financial position and security is the Soviet Union. If the other countries continue as they are, trying to build a superstructure without a broad, solid foundation, they will meet disaster —or shall we say revolution? That is the attitude of the "radical" politico-economists, who strangely enough at the moment join hands with the Tory financial writers to assert that the major money countries of the world—no matter what their governments may be — are heading for financial storm.

MANAGED CURRENCY

Belief prevails that managed currency will continue. It certainly will have to, under present conditions. If a nation is caught nodding even for a moment nowadays, prices fluctuate in a disturbing manner.

Yet read this interpellation in the British parliament by Rupert De La Bere, of Worcestershire, who opposes cheap money, as do the majority of financiers in the United States:

"1. Whether the chancellor of the exchequer can give an assurance that the government's policy of restriction of the use of money in this country will not lead to a sudden and uncontrolled rise in money rates, and whether, as a free money market provides the best and most constant checks, he will aim at maintaining a free money market in the best interests of this country.

"2. Whether it is the intention of the government to keep money cheap by various methods, and at the same time to attempt to curb speculation.

"3. Whether the chancellor of the exchequer can give some assurance to the house that the government's finance policy, which tends to make cheap money for speculators in commodities, will not entail a rise in the price of food."

TAXES

Now we turn to the liberal nation in the United States, which has as its financial commentator the able Maxwell Stewart, who sees not so much danger in an unbalanced budget as in failure to tax wealth sufficiently in order to head off a disastrous speculative splurge.

Says Mr. Stewart:

"During the past six years The Nation has refused to join the cohorts who are prophesying an early doom for the American government because it was running a deficit of from two to five billion dollars a year. We have repeatedly pointed out that in proportion to its income and real wealth, the United States government was less burdened by debt than any other great power.

"The danger of financial collapse is certainly no worse today than it was seven years ago, when the federal debt had been reduced to $16,000,000,000. Doubtless the government could go on for another six years piling up deficits without placing an intolerable burden on future generations.

"On the other hand, it should be evident that if the government is ever to put its finances on a sound basis it must do so during periods of transitory prosperity. If the budget cannot be balanced in 1937-'38, there is good reason to doubt whether it can ever be balanced.

"The urgency is the greater because an unbalanced budget in a period of rapidly rising prices is the surest path to an uncontrolled inflation.

"Since taxes are always collected on the previous year's income, an inflation could only be headed off by a fundamental change in our tax structure."

THE ATTIC MIND

Time was I heard my mother say:
"That's much too good to throw away."
So bits of furniture or plate
Worn thin and wholly out of date
Into the attic promptly went
To gather dust and sentiment.

What things the attic came to hold
Would fill the page if all were told:
Books, pictures, letters, broken toys,
Tokens of long-remembered joys,
Baskets which once held roses fair,
Too poor to show, too rich to spare.

Forgotten in the murky gloom
They cluttered deep that attic room.
Yet now and then by chance we'd find
Some dusty trinket, out of mind,
And instantly would reappear
Bright memories of a by-gone year.

So memory serves! It seems to say:
"This is too good to throw away!
Let man rush on to pleasures new;
Let him some passing fad pursue,
I'll keep this joy which now he spurns
For him to find when he returns."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SPIRIT UNSHAKEN.

Only now with the coming of April sunshine and harvest time for California valencia oranges, are people beginning to realize what a body blow the sharp winter frosts in California dealt to the citrus industry.

In Central Californnia, for example, instead of the 6000 cars once expected, growers are counting on only about 500 cars of valencias. Losses like this are hard to take; but if you think the farmers are discouraged or the citrus industry shaken, then you don't know farmers of the robust character of the citrus industry of California.

There's a background of hardihood that began back in 1779 when the Spanish padres brought in the first orange trees. There were years of battling the elements, of reclaiming deserts and expanding acreage until, in 1876, the citrus industry was dreaming of supplying the rich markets of the east, if only they could be reached.

In that year the railroad was built which the pioneering Southern Pacific pushed through to the south and connected with the transcontinental route. Then the great flood of gold from the trees began flowing to the markets of the nation; and as transportation grew

Today's Yesterdays—300 Years Ago Today—The English government forbade Puritans emigrating to New England!

I was a sad error for King Charles I to make, for it prevented Oliver Cromwell from abandoning England for America. Forced to stay home, Cromwell led the revolution that cost Charles his head.

75 Years Ago Today—David Glasgow Farragut, who was made master of a ship by U. S. Navy order when he was TWELVE years old, said "Damn the torpedoes, go ahead," and the navy tool New Orleans for Brig. Gen. Benjamin Butler's army.

It was the beginning, not the end of Ben Butler's troubles at New Orleans.

Amelia Earhart Has Ideal Hubby

Never Opposes Plans Of Famous Flying Wife In Spite Of Hazards

DOGS WELCOME IN NEW YORK HOTELS

NEW YORK, April 29.—Amelia Earhart seems to have acquired the perfect type of husband for a daring aviatrix, in George Palmer Putnam. He is a book publisher who, no matter his feelings expresses a commendable calm over her hazardous exploits. He never opposes.

O. O. McIntyre

Every plan is presented to him before taking form and he is always in hearty accord. He has perfect confidence in her ability at controls and while not an active flyer, has acquired much technical knowledge. Also he has made several long flights.

On her ocean hops he accompanies her to her plane and bids goodbye as casually as though she was just off for New Rochelle for the evening. Then he remains in seclusion, without a wink of sleep, until he receives word of her safe arrival.

Their marriage, despite the diversity of their callings, has been singularly ideal. They dine, lunch and attend the theatre together frequently. I have been told that after her world flight, interrupted by a crack up, she may give up flying for all time because her husband has been such a good sport about it.

There were a shaky few days recently when it looked as though the historic New Amsterdam theatre, long considered an ace playhouse, might go over to burlesque and the strip act along the 42nd street Burlesque Belt. The papers were about to be signed when something happened which probably saved A. L. Erlanger and Flo Ziegfeld from turning over in their crypts. Those who knew the dash and Rialto flair of 42nd street 20 years ago would not know its down-at-heel and catch-penny droop today. A great street honky-tonk.

New York hotel owners, in letting down bars to small dogs, say they have suffered no damage losses whatever and have had but few minor complaints from guests. The patron with a dog, they say, is invariably well behaved and, realizing he is more or less under sufferance, is careful with his pet. Too, he is generally steady in his habits and not a carouser. A person coming to New York for a fling does not bring a dog. And it is the visiting party flinger who often not only disrupts hotel service but disturbs guests and causes property loss.

Enlightened 1937: It was interesting to watch pedestrians on the avenue near Scribner's react to a window washer's ladder leaned from the middle of the sidewalk during the rush hour the other noon. In fifteen minutes time not more than five passed under the ladder. All, gravely fearing the ancient superstitition, walked around. One man reading a newspaper was just under it when he noticed his predicament, gave a little squeak and indulged one of those stooping little Bobby Clark runs around it. I noticed Guernsey Curran gave it the go by as did Vinton Freedlay and Percy McCord.

I know a pulp magazine writer who for years has had but one pronounced superstition and that is having his path crossed by a black cat. He never had the experience until recently when it happened late one night by the light of the moon. He went to bed restless. In an hour his phone rang, it was unexpected good news from a London publisher. At daylight he was aroused by a night letter that a play he had almost forgotten had been accepted by a prominent producer. And when he left his apartment around noon there was the black cat sitting on an entrance step. Coaxed into the house, it has been a household pet for eight months.

Olin Miller in a syndicate paragraph observes: "What puzzles a lot of us about the average New York column is how its conductor can keep from thinking long enough to write it."

Thingumbobs: Amos n' Andy keep friendly by seeing each other only on broadcasting matters. . . . Frank Craven will not appear in or direct a stage or screen play that contains a suggestive line. . . . Gouverneur Morris often re-writes a sort story a dozen times. . . . Edison Marshall is said to be the most widely traveled modern author. He is now in Burma. . . . Darryl Zenuck smokes 30 cigars a day. . . . Premier Baldwin can put himself to sleep with a few cups of hot coffee.

I am a shameless tip peeper. When a diner near me leaves a pourbois I strain and squirm until I can see how much. Last night I was sneaking a peek and looked right smack up into the waiter's face. He smiled and said "Ninety cents, sir." And did I get sniggered at all the way home; all the way I did.

even swifter and cheaper and the refrigerator cars came in, the golden flood mounted until today citrus fruits tops the list of all the perishables that the Southern Pacific hauls.

Today California supplies more than sixty per cent of the oranges America consumes. In normal years the California citrus crop is worth $100,000,000, second only in value to the oil.

It's harvest time in the Valencia orange fields, and the crop this season is small. But no such misfortune can dent the spirit of the farmers who built this giant industry,—the men who learned that all the gold in California does not come from mines and pebbly streams.

Extra help which has been on duty in the court house for the past several weeks is practically through with the preparation of tax liens for the county treasurer. Ten of the girls have finished and by this afternoon all the work will be done. There are still some extra girls working getting out tax cards but this work will not be done for some time yet.

By order of Judge W. Walter Braham, the New Castle Field Club Swimming Pool Ass'n., was granted a charter today. The corporation is a non-profit venture and will install and operate a swimming pool on the grounds of the New Castle Field Club.

Since the crash of the Harris bridge, the subject of bridges has been of interest around the court house. For your information the number of bridges in this county, was checked in the office of the county commissioner. You may be interested to know that in this county there are 62 bridges ranging from the larger ones such as the Gardner avenue and Wampum viaducts down to a bridge without any name over Hettenbaugh Run which measures 4.1 feet.

Of the 62 bridges, Lawrence County is responsible for 25 of them and the state the other 37. Of the county's 25 bridges, 6 are over the Neshannock Creek, 6 over the Slippery Rock, 4 over the Shenango, 2 over the Mahoning, 1 over Hickory Creek, 2 over Big Run and 4 over the Little Beaver.

The county has 2 covered bridges in its 25, the Banks bridge in Wilmington township and the McConnell's Mill bridge.

The bridge iron of the Rose Point bridge is hardly fit for use over the Slippery Rock to replace the Harris bridge, according to John B. Shaw, superintendent of highways. Where the plates join they are badly rusted out according to Mr. Shaw and would not be fit for use in a new bridge.

The iron must be moved out of its present location soon as the land which it occupies is to be used for a road side stand, Shaw says. What the state will do with it is problematical, but it will probably finds its way to some junk yard.

Mr. Shaw also said that it was possible that something would be done in the near future towards replacing the Armstrong bridge which crosses the Slippery Rock Creek just below the Heinz House camp. The bridge is light and hardly safe for traffic.

A short session of juvenile court was held on Wednesday by Judge W. Walter Braham. Judge James A. Chambers is serving this week in Westmoreland county at Greensburg.

While little has been said about it, several fires have started in the court house in the past year. In each instance, the night watchman has been able to put them out without serious damage. The most recent one was about a month ago. Should a fire ever get a good start, the court house probably would be ruined.

Plan New Prison On Mt. Gretna Site

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Gov. George H. Earle has approved Mt. Gretna Military Reservation as the site for the commonwealth's contemplated $3,000,000 penitentiary, Secretary of Welfare John D. Pennington announced today.

"Many counties were after the penitentiary", Pennington told International News Service, "but I advised him—and he agreed—that Lebanon county would be the most practical. The state will not have to pay for any land because it already owns the site."

The contemplated construction is to be carried out through the general state authority, with, if possible, federal funds.

Circus Horse In Important Role

Still Play Leading Part In Life Of Big Railroad Shows Of Country

ARE RARITY ON CITY STREETS

Gangway for the horse!

Long a stand-by of the big railroad shows, the horse today occupies a position equally as important as that of the elephant where exhibition is concerned.

The motor age which has driven the horse off the streets of the average big city has made no serious inroads on the railroad shows which still carry hundreds of splendid horses both for performing purposes and for pulling the heavy circus wagons from the railroad unloading point to the show grounds and back again.

And so it has reached the place where a six-horse hitch of beautiful circus percheons will draw as large an audience as will an elephant so rare has become the spectacle of fine horseflesh on city streets.

In the performance of the great Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, perfect specimens of many popular strains occupy the spotlight. There are the super-educated high-school groups, beautiful snow-white stock for bareback riding, great companies of liberty horses as well as the fiery racers ridden by the intrepid ladies of the big show in the dangerous Roman standing competition.

The world's largest trained wild animal circus is so proud of its horses that it keeps its stable tents open to the public at all times. Here, without charge, the public may see the equine stars of the show as well as the "baggage stock" which does the heavy work around the circus and which, while it does not share in the spotlight under the big top, gets the same quality of oats and hay that the "actors" get.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, one of the last frontiers for lovers of fine horses, will give afternoon and evening performances at 2 and 8 P. M. in New Castle on Friday, May 7.

Circus day will also be inaugurated by a mammoth parade at 11 a. m.

Open-Air Show To Be Band Benefit

Taggart Stadium Spectacle Late In May Planned By Boosters

UNIFORMS NEEDED; GOAL NOW $3,000

With nearly $1,800 contributed by residents so far, the Senior high school band boosters decided at a meeting Wednesday afternoon to reduce their goal for the present from $5,000 to $3,500—enough to cover the purchase of new band uniforms.

The $5,000 was for new uniforms and needed instruments.

"We're going to concentrate on the uniforms now," explained Alec Samuels, energetic head of the citizens group conducting the drive. "For the time being we want $3,000 for the uniforms—we'll go after the instruments later."

Discuss Plans Wednesday

The volunteer campaigners attended a meeting yesterday in Principal Frank L. Orth's office at the Lincoln avenue school.

Samuels announced that the group approved plans for a colorful outdoor spectacle at Taggart Stadium during the last week of May—a spectacle in which gymnasts and musicians and athletes of Senior high will display their talents before a huge community throng. The proceeds of the open-air show will go to the $3,000 fund.

A committee composed of Richard E. Rentz, Robert L. Meermans, L. L. Weitzel and Samuels will meet within a few days with faculty representatives at the high school to work out plans for the stadium show.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT

Break In Water Line Is Repaired

Service Restored As Repairs Are Made To Damaged Water Line

Work of completing repairs to the big 12-inch water main which supplies the North Hill and West Side districts, and which burst near the Jewish cemetery at noon yesterday, was completed by employes of the City of New Castle Water company last evening.

The break was one of the most serious that has been experienced by the water company in years, but the work of repairing the damage was completed in record time and service was restored to some sections affected within a short period of time.

Sabbath Services At Temple Israel

"Mother Of Israel" Will Be Subject Of Sermon At Temple Friday Night

Regular Sabbath services will be held at Temple Israel, Friday evening at eight o'clock, with Rabbi Norman H. Diamond officiating. The biblical portion for the third Sabbath of the Hebrew month of Iyar is taken from the sixtieth chapter of Isaiah. The sermon subject is to be "Mothers of Israel."

Twenty years ago, April 26, there passed from this earth one of God's truest servants, Rabbi J. Leonard Levy, who occupied the pulpit of Temple Rodef Shalom in Pittsburgh. His exemplary life, his eloquence, his learning have not been forgotten by those whom he served. The inspiration he gave to men and women will live forever. Jewry lost one of its outstanding teachers; the community, one of its most beloved friends. Temple Israel was erected in his memory to keep alive the things he taught and lived. The Kaddish prayer for the dead will be recited for him at the Sabbath service.

The Shebuoth program, under the direction of Beatrice Sandler, is taking final shape. The children have been rehearsing regularly so that the Religious school can be closed for the season in an impressive manner. The date set is the first day of Shebuoth, May 16, at 2:30 p. m.

Earle Backs Crew Bill, Erk Reports Upon Return Today

Returning from Harrisburg where he served as legislative representative for New Castle lodge 955 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, W. E. Erk, County Line street, today reported that Governor Earle announced that legislation to require full crews on trains is "clearly constitutional" and strongly urged the legislature to enact a full-crew bill before it.

The governor, Mr. Erk added, said a companion bill to limit the length of freight trains is of "doubtful constitutionality" and recommended that it be abandoned.

Erk said that in the place of the proposed train-limit legislation the governor suggested an amendment to permit the new public utility commission to "take such action in limiting trains as the facts and circumstances warrant".

Like Spaghetti?

Do New Castle folks like spaghetti?

Pipe the figures below and then form your own opinion:

During last evening's St. Vitus church dinner and entertainment in the Cathedral, more than 2,000 persons consumed:

About 440 pounds, or 20 boxes, of the famous Italian food.

Approximately 37,400 strips of the white thin obstacle.

Translated into inches, about 1,496,000 inches, or about 124,666 feet, were consumed.

These figures were reached from the following theory:

There are about 284 feet to every pound of the spaghetti, 85 strips to the pound and about 3,400 inches to a pound—that is, before the spaghetti hits the pots.

Do New Castle folks like spaghetti?

Whata you think?

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—State troopers and county detectives today were ordered by President Judge Joseph A. Richardson of the criminal courts to cease their investigation of prospective jurors for the Fayette "third degree" trials.

And the judge advised prospective jurors not to give any information about themselves to questioners. He said:

"In order that there be no misunderstanding on the part of the prospective jurors or any other person, the court now notifies those called for service that in the interest of justice they should refuse to give any information concerning themselves to any person.

"Any juror from whom information is solicited or who is annoyed by any person making inquiry, regardless of whom he purports to represent, is requested to report the matter directly to the presiding judge of criminal court."

The trials are scheduled to resume here Monday, May 10, with District Attorney James A. Reilly probably the next to be tried for the alleged "third degree" death of Frank C. Monaghan, 64.

Oil Swindler And Girl Are Being Hunted

Boston Financier And Girl Secretary Principals In $165,000 Swindle

CLAIRE WINDSOR ONE OF VICTIMS

(International News Service)

BOSTON, April 29. — Federal authorities today sought a Boston financier and his girl secretary as they continued their probe into an alleged $165,000 oil swindle which had for one of its principal victims Claire Windsor, motion picture actress.

Lured by a $46 transcontinental telephone call by a suave salesman, Miss Windsor invested $16,800 in oil royalties, the securities exchange commission was told at a hearing. She paid $2800 for each of six units which were worth only $550 at market price. Sales were arranged by Joseph A. Lincoln, Boston broker, friends of Miss Windsor and former campaign manager for former attorney general Joseph A. Warner. Lincoln testified he thought the investment was a good one at the time.

Other witnesses described a palatial estate on the shore of Casco Bay, at Portland, Me., alleged headquarters of the oil sales staff. "Suckers" were feted with elaborate dinners served by an English butler and a large staff of servants, witnesses said. Walter H. Finn, former chauffeur for a sales agent, said he drove more than 100 miles from Boston to Middleton, N. Y., to deliver a box of candy to a school teacher who had put her life savings into the alleged swindle.

SAYS "THE NEWS" IS BEST LETTER

Griffith has been confined to bed for several months, and during the past few weeks he has been a patient at Mt. McGregor. Steady progress is is noted in his condition.

State Police Are Assigned To Duty At Jersey Plant

Governor Hoffman Says Human And Property Rights Are To Be Protected

(International News Service)

TRENTON, N. J., April 29.—With unequivocal warning of his intention to protect human and property rights, Gov. Harold G. Hoffman today assigned state troopers to maintain order in the C. I. O.-sponsored strike at the Thermoid Rubber Company plant here.

State police intervention was ordered after Sheriff Herbert W. Bradley informed the governor he was unable to enforce a court order restraining picketing strikers from interfering with the company's operations or non-striking employes.

Approximately 300 employes are in the plant, scene of several riots recently, while members of the United Rubber Workers of America continue on strike.

Declaring a majority of the employes desired to work, the governor said:

"It is apparent that a number remaining employes, under the influence of outside agitators, have determined to prevent employes from the exercise of a right that is guaranteed to every American citizen—that of obtaining an earned living."

The governor said he had assurances from the employers that they had never refused to confer with their employes. He continued: "The real point is that a certain number of people have determined to take the law into their own hands, to resort to violence and sabotage and to threaten, coerce and assault employes of the company on their way to and from their homes, and to resort to acts of vandalism that cannot, and will not be tolerated in the state of New Jersey."

Admits Taking Part In Several Score Burglaries

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Irving Sadoff, 16, of New York, hung his head in police court today and renounced his brief venture into crime.

Fifty-eight burglaries in Philadelphia homes netted him only $100, the boy admitted. He practiced burglary here on week ends, commuting from New York by bus and the intake, less than $2 a job, failed to cover the cost of transportation.

"Crime," he admitted ruefully, "doesn't pay." He was held for the grand jury.

Friday–City Tax Discount Deadline!

Residents who want to get a one percent discount in their 1937 city taxes must pay them by Friday, the last day of the month, City Treasurer C. C. McKibben declared today.

He also warned that Saturday, May 1 will be the last day for paying 1936 school taxes. On Monday the unpaid taxes will be filed at the courthouse.

"More people," said the city treasurer, "are taking advantage of the one percent rebate in the city taxes this year—and that must mean there's more money around."

Farm Land Is More Valuable

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Farm lands of New England, the South Atlantic States, and the states of New Jersey, Tennessee, Alabama, Louisiana and California have advanced in value since the depression to more than the pre-war level.

The bureau of agricultural economics revealed today values of all farm real estate have advanced 12 points since 1933, but are still only 85 per cent of the value of the 1912-14 worth.

In the severe drought belt of the western plains, values are far below normal.

Using 100 per cent as the pre-war valuation, the bureau gave the following ratio of prices for 1933, when farm prices dropped to 73 per cent of the pre-war price, and for March 1, 1937:

Pennsylvania 78 87.
Ohio 59 75.

Wave Of Strikes In Truck Body Building Plants

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 29.—A wave of strikes in truck body-building plants swept metropolitan New York today as the United Automobile Workers' Union made its first concerted attempt to organize the industry in New York.

The U. A. W. claimed between 700 and 800 employes had walked out, closing 30 shops, with at least ten more yet to be affected.

Charles Roeder, speaking for the Vehicle Body Builders' Association, admitted 90 per cent of the industry had been affected.

The larger plants affected included the Standard Bodies Manufacturing Co., the Fred Roeder Manufacturing Co., and the Colonial Body Co., Long Island City, according to a union statement.

Pickets went on duty in front of each plant.

Private profit is never abolished. In America the big shots get it from customers; in Russia they get it from taxpayers.

SUICIDE CRAZE ENDS

China's mass suicide hysteria that began a few months ago with the death of the popular film star, Yuen Ling-Yu, appears to have ended. The actress fell in love with a rich tea merchant, but she was married and her husband objected vigorously. When she ended her life actress friends, movie fans and usherettes caught the mass suicide fever and took their own lives. Five workmen who had saved their money for weeks to see Yuen's latest film, heard of her death and threw themselves, hand-in-hand, into the river. At Nanking it is reported that this wave of suicide madness has spent its force.

A free land is one where you can disregard the law, unless you are little and easy to handle.

Campers Get Together At 'Y' Wednesday

Seventy Camp East Brookers Have Reunion Last Evening In Y. W. C. A.

NEW DIRECTOR IS INTRODUCED

Seventy "old" campers got together at the Y. W. C. A. last night to play old games, sing old songs, meet old friends and to talk about the new camp for 1937 and to meet the new program director, Miss Helen Cooper, physical education teacher at Edgewood, Pa., and her sister Miss Catherine Cooper, a biology senior at Slippery Rock, who is to be nature study counsellor at Camp East Brook this summer.

Another new friend will be Nurse Mathilda Sobeske, recently supervisor of the children's ward at Jameson Memorial Hospital, who has done post graduate work in the children's hospitals at Detroit and Farmington, Michigan and the Merrill Palmer School in Detroit.

Among the old counsellors going to camp again this year will be Miss Peggie Griffith, swimming instructor and Miss Louise Davies, handicraft counsellor also Mrs. Ann Cain Earl, swimming instructor. Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. Hart and Mr. Outhwaite ("Mr. Fixit") will all be at camp again this year.

After a very substantial supper served by Mrs. A. B. Foster and the camp committee, Mrs. J. Glenn Berry, camp chairman, introduced Miss Cooper and the other counsellors who talked about plans for this year's camp program and asked for suggestions from the girls for the betterment of camp.

A camp skit written and produced by Jean Waddington, Jerry Flick, Isabel Douglas and Joan Thompson, sent the campers into gales of laughter as the would be horseback riders trotted in on their broom stick steeds and stopped to talk with a couple of hikers about old times and the necessity of getting signed up for camp as soon as possible in order not to be disappointed about getting registered this year.

Worst Spring Flood In 40 Years In Progress In Canadian Province

HUNDREDS REPORTED DRIVEN FROM HOMES

(International News Service)

Steady recession of flood waters today obliterated threat of a major inundation of the rich Ohio valley. Northward, however, boiling streams continued their destructive course through the Canadian province of Ontario.

Two thousands persons were being driven from their homes at Thamesville, Ont., before the onward surge of the Thames river. Many residents were evacuated to higher ground by volunteer rescue workers.

The Ohio river rolled southward from Wheeling, the receding waters bringnig new hope to 3,000 persons who, temporarily minus shelter, planned to clear out debris from the homes they deserted two days ago when fears of a disastrous crest were widespread.

Rivers and tributaries in the western Pennsylvania watershed also were returning to normal depth while flood control plans were discussed by state and city officials.

Flood Havoc In Ontario.

THAMESVILLE, Ont., April 29.—Sweeping toward Lake St. Clair, the rampaging Thames river struck a ten-mile front here today, driving 2,000 persons from their homes.

The village was inundated under four feet of water.

The raging Thames, in its worst spring flood in 40 years, drove 10,000 persons from their homes in London before its crest swept into this village. Damage in London was estimated at $3,000,000.

Five lives have been lost in the flood so far in western Ontario.

Possible loss of life was averted here by prompt action of a hastily mobilized volunteer rescue organization which supervised evacuation of the village.

Working in four-hour shifts, the crew of 50 volunteers took many residents to high ground outside the village. Others were ordered to the Tecumseh House hotel. Careful watch was kept on persons who decided to stay in the upper stories of their homes.

The village is without heat or drinking water. There is no bread in the village, but enough canned food to supply the refugees.

Fate Of Drunken Driver In Hands Of Criminal Jury

Youngstown Man Faces Conviction For Death Of Infant Result Of Crash

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—The fate of Gilbert J. Eichenlaub, of Youngstown, O., accused of involuntary manslaughter and driving while under the influence of liquor as the result of a crash in which a 19-months-old child was killed was in the hands of a criminal court jury here today.

Eichenlaub's automobile crashed into a car driven by August F. Arnold on the Perry highway near Warrendale at dusk last August 12. The child, a daughter of Mrs. Alice Schleunning, was sitting in the lap of Mrs. Albert E. Wigley. It was hurled against the machine and injured about the hand and also internally, dying soon after removal to St. Francis hospital.

Dr. Lewis Etter, of Warrendale, testified he examined Eichenlaub and found him under the influence of olcohol.

Five Hundred Rebels Slain

Loyalists Turn Back Fierce Thrust By Rebels On Santa Barbara

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 29.—Five hundred rebels were killed when loyalists turned back a fierce attack on loyal army positions at Santa Barbara, near Calamocha on the Teruel Salient, a Spanish press agency (loyalist) communique said today.

Insurgent troops and airplanes were thrown into the assault, apparently in an attempt to relieve pressure on the long, thin spearhead the rebels have driven down the Teruel road.

"Unloaded Guns" Take Two Lives At Pittsburgh

Young Girl Is Shot To Death With Rifle, Youth Killed By His Chum

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29—A boy and a girl were dead today one at the hands of his best friend and the other by her classmate sweetheart, all because two "empty" guns went off.

Seated on the davenport of her home, dressed in her best frock, pretty Margaret Love, 14, of Forest Hills, was waiting for her boy friend to take her to the dance. John Halls, 15, was proudly showing her his new rifle.

He pulled the trigger and Margaret slumped over to the floor, a bullet in her head.

"I didn't know it was loaded," Hall told police.

In another section of the city, at about the same time Joseph Sergei, 19, found an old pistol as he rummaged through a drawer helping his best friend, Harry J. Loomis, 17, move.

"I pulled the trigger twice," he told police, "and nothing happened."

Then he pulled the trigger again and Loomis fell to the floor, shot through the abdomen. He died shortly after at the hospital.

"I thought it was empty," said Sergei, brokenly.

Many Questions Loom For Coronation Visitors

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1937)

LONDON, April 29.—What shall we do? How shall we act, what shall we hear? What shall we see? What can we expect? Will it be worth the time and money?

These and numberless other questions are being asked by 25,000 Americans expected for the week of festivities in connection with the coronation of King George VI May 12.

The majority of them will find London as unlike the average American big city as Bombay is to Chicago or Paris to New York.

Its crooked, rambling streets will bewilder them.

The peculiar brand of pronunciation will mystify them.

Traffic Hazards

Its great lumbering re-painted buses, clattering streetcars, decrepit taxicabs, and "baby" autos, all preceeding down the left hand side of the street instead of the right, will cause them to jump for their lives.

They will be puzzled by the drabness and uniformity of men's wear styles in a capital which for years has been touted as the city of best-dressed males.

The chronic inability of the average London girl to appear smartly turned out, even in good clothes, will cause them to draw invidious comparisons between the average street crowd in London and New York.

They will find that the black derby is the most popular headgear for men.

The American male visitor will discover that free matches with every purchase of a packet of cigarettes is unknown in London.

Many Differences

And if they decide to keep to their favorite American brands, they will discover that the high excise tariff makes them three times as costly as they are in America.

If they bring their own automobiles, the Americans must be prepared for a nightmarish experience.

Their left-hand drive American-made auto will prove decidedly inconvenient in London traffic, which drives on the left.

Their gasoline will cost them 38 cents a gallon; the treasury will take a tax of three dollars per year for every unit of horse-power developed by their car engine.

Free service with the purchase of a few gallons of gasoline is practically unknown. Wiping the windshield, dusting bodywork, etc., have to be paid for.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

See New Party Lineup Forming

President Is Focal Point In New Amalgamation Which Is "Creeping Up"

AWAIT OUTCOME OF NEXT CONVENTIONS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Tom L. Stokes, a political commentator for whose opinions both official Washington and the capitals newspaper corps have a high respect, spoke in the most casual fashion in a recent article of "the new party that" President Roosevelt "has envisioned".

It was just an incidental reference. Tom did not take the trouble to assert that the president woes "envision" a new party. He simply took it for granted that everyone knows he does.

And it's a curious thing that everyone, at least here, does know it, and yet no one mentions it as something he has just discovered.

Wouldn't one suppose that, at an earlier stage of the game, some observer would have exclaimed, "Good gosh! the president envisions a new party!"? But by no means. Realization of the fact that this is what he "envisions" developed so gradually that no one sensed it until now it is generally assumed that everyone was aware of it all along.

It isn't news. It simply has dawned on political folk by degrees, imperceptibly, as old age creeps on.

CREPT UP ON HIM?

I do not believe that President Roosevelt himself premeditated a new party when he came into office.

I think that the program insidiously crept up on him, too.

Anyway, it is recognized now.

Oh! the old party names probably will survive, but not the same two old parties. Indeed, they do not survive at present. Recently we witnessed the amazing incident of as dyed-in-wool an old-time Jeffersonian as Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina appealing to Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader in the upper congressional chamber, for support against the administration.

THE ANTIS

Without many exceptions the elder statesmen on Capitol Hill are anti-administrationists.

This is understandable. These oldsters feel that their various constituencies are pretty dependable; their notion is that they can defy the White House and still be re-elected. They may be wrong but that is how they reason.

The youngsters are the chaps on whom the president chiefly relies. And the youngsters, most of them, respond. Why wouldn't they? They were swept into office on President Roosevelt's coattails. They haven't the consciousness of independence that their elders have. For that matter, their elders may be mistaken.

However, an elder (especially a senator, with five years more to serve) can better afford to be mistaken than a young representative. The ancient senator probably will die before his term runs out. What does he care?—considering that, in all likelihood, he will be dead on next election day? But the youngster has a political future to be looked forward to.

If there is to be a new party, the youngster wants to belong to it—that is to say, to the right one.

* * *

A SCRAMBLE IN '40

It will be funny to watch the two next national conventions.

There will be plenty of conservative Democrats who will want to flock with the Republicans; some few leftist Republicans who will want to attend the Democratic gathering.

Or perhaps both names will be changed. Heaven knows!

A new party (or new parties) loom in the offing, anyway.

AROUND CITY HALL

Specifications for the paving of 10 thoroughfares are on file at the office of the city engineer and bids will be opened May 13 during council session. The streets council proposes to have paved are Richelieu avenue, between East Main street and Erie avenue; Hillcrest avenue between Highland avenue and Albert street; Albert street between Norwood and Fairfield avenues; Edgewood avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues; Clenmore boulevard between Highland and Delaware avenues; Northview avenue between Highland and Albert street; Waldo street between Hamilton and Grimes streets; Cunningham avenue between Long avenue and Lutton street; Norwood avenue between Highland and Delaware avenues and North Mercer street between Highland and Delaware avenues. It is not known if the foregoing will be the order in which the streets will be improved.

As to be expected, following several days rain, North Mercer street north of Sheridan avenue is a rather bumpy lane. One half of the thoroughfare is located inside the city and other half is in Neshannock township. The thoroughfare is a main artery north and south between Washington street and the north city line and during spring and summer months is used extensively by persons who wish to keep their automobiles off Highland avenue. Rural avenue has been improved and it is believed that in time when such can be arranged North Mercer street may be an improved highway. However, at this writing there is apparently no serious thought being given to it.

Bicycling has increased here recently. Every few days one hears of an accident either between a cycle and auto or cyclist and pedestrian, which brings to mind that there are regulations which the cyclist must obey, for instance the red light. Bicycles should be equipped with a reflector and a suitable signal, whether it be bell or horn. However, he or she should not depend upon the signal clearing the [illegible]. A cyclist should take as much pride in operating his cycle properly as he would if he were driving an auto. The careful bicycle rider should give signals, identical to those given by autoists. He should never ride another person on the handle-bars and he should walk through badly congested traffic. He should also stop when a street car is taking on or discharging passengers and he should not ride through safety zones and never, never hitch on trucks and other vehicles. A cyclist should also remember that a pedestrian has the right of way on the sidewalk and at intersections. The foregoing tips were taken from the booklet of the Cycle Trades of America.

Would Rid National Defense Of Aliens

By ROBERT HUMPHREYS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A house drive to rid national defense agencies of aliens was launched today. The appropriations committee added a rider on the war department's annual military supply bill to provide for an "All-American" army.

The provision would prohibit the army enlisting aliens and prevent the re-enlistment of 7,300 soldiers who have never become citizens.

Sponsored by Rep. Starnes (D) of Alabama, the rider was approved by the committee without objection. He will seek a similar provision in the forthcoming war department's non-military appropriation bill to take 10,498 aliens off the roles of the Panama Canal force.

Constant Threat

"When we have aliens intimately connected with our national defense secrets, we are maintaining a constant threat to our own safety at our own expense," Starnes declared. "It is my judgment that the time has come to stop it."

The rider provides:

1. That after July 1, none of the appropriation for 1938 for the army shall be paid enlisted men who have not become citizens.

2. That no funds shall be available to pay aliens beyond the term of their enlistment after that date.

3. An exception for foreign language instructors at West Point and enlisted men in the Insular possessions.

Easy To Join

Aliens may now join the army upon declaration of intent to become citizens.

"I do not intend this as a blow at the integrity of aliens now in the army," Starnes said. "But these men, as well as 6,280,000 other aliens in this country, are subject to draft by foreign powers who might engage in war against us.

"Personally, I think that the best possible army is an American army. In case of war with a foreign power then no alien is in the ranks torn between duty to his oath of allegiance and duty to his old country."

Starnes particularly scored the "topheavy" use of aliens in the Canal zone.

Canal Situation Bad

"The Panama Canal represents some of our most vital military secrets," he declared. "Americans can best protect those secrets. It seems to me we should plug what might become a serious leak in time of conflict."

There are 13,926 civilian employes in the Canal zone, he said, of whom only 3,428 are American citizens.

Starnes is also the author of a bill now pending in congress which would make it mandatory on all governmental departments to give preference to American citizens over aliens in selecting their personnel.

Glory Barn Is Bringing Crowds

Soldier - Evangelist Bringing Messages Nightly At East Side Center

"Glory Barn", at the corner of East Washington and Beckford street, where services were opened on Sunday by Rev. John W. Sproul, noted soldier-evangelist of Pittsburgh, have been attracting large crowds each night this week.

There will be no service tonight but the series will be resumed Friday night and will continue through next week.

Rev. Sproul does not profess to be a divine healer; he only professes belief in faith and that God hears and answers prayer. He believes in medical science, it may be added.

Rev. Sproul has had a remarkable life and he will tell of his experiences in a special "life story" sermon Friday night. He was gassed in the World War and came home wrecked in health and was unable to speak. He had a hemorrhage of the lungs, 24 ether operations, and says he was suddenly and miraculously healed at an evangelistic meeting.

The meetings are interdenominational and are being conducted in the old Third U. P. church building.

'Y' Huskies Are Ready To Tackle Camp Job Saturday

A group of Y. M. C. A. young men, wearing the oldest clothes they can locate, will descend on Camp Fred L. Rentz of the "Y" early Saturday afternoon to tackle a clean-up job which they promised to do in a meeting just a short time ago.

The fellows will be the members of Young Men's council of the association, the "clearing house" for the activities of "Y" clubs.

"The council recently passed a motion asking all members to give an afternoon of service at Camp Rentz," General Secretary R. L. Meermans said today. "We've set Saturday, May 1 as the date."

Notices went out to the council members today.

Some will carry saws and others will take hatchets or axes, and all will be prepared for an afternoon of hard work. The "Y" will serve the workers a hot dinner at 6:30 in the evening.

Camp Rentz, one of the finest camps in Western Pennsylvania, will be attended this year by one of the largest groups of "Y" boys ever to vacation there. Advance reservations show an increase over those of a year ago.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills today.

Schools Exhibit Opened Today At Union High School

Township Schools Exhibit Models Of Their Class Work At Union Building

From all early indications the exhibit of class school work, which opened this afternoon in the Union township high school building, will be an entire success. The exhibits of the various deparments from the township schools will be on display for viewing by parents of the pupils this afternoon and evening.

Projects from all departments are assembled in the auditorium of the school, and they are all based on actual class work, which the students perform each day of the school year. Art, science, biology, languages, vocations, music, hobbies and other examples of class work are stressed in very novel ways in the projects.

The main idea of the exhibit is to show, in a graphic manner, the parents just what type of work their children are doing in school, and what fields of education they are covering.

It was originally planned to open the exhibit only in the evening, but later it was decided that the doors would be thrown open to the public during the early part of the afternoon. In this way more persons will be able to view this extensive exhibit.

Working under the chairmanship of Merrill C. Young, the following committee members have arranged every detail in a satisfactory manner and through their efforts have made a success of the show: Robert Duff, John Leonard, Ann Rice, Walter Burckhart, Lois Ketterer, Elma Robinson, Fern Cloak, Milton Pattison, Dave Boyd, Sarah Loudon, Joe Thompson, R. F. Conway, J. G. Rudolph and Ruth Horton. Each of these committee members is representative of some department and has on display examples of his particular work.

EUGENE, Ore.—Many residents here are worrying for fear America is about to become involved in another war because of the birth-rate figures, which shows that 73 out of 114 births since the first of the year have been boys. Young Prisoner Is Being Hunted In Hill Country

Jessie James McCoy, Escapes From Penitentiary At Moundsville, West Virginia

(International News Service)

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., April 29.—Echoes of the famous Hatfield-McCoy feud of years ago were heard again today in the mountain fastnesses of West Virginia.

Jessie James McCoy, youthful member of the famous clan, escaped from the state prison and was being sought today by a posse. It was believed he had headed for the mountain districts of his state.

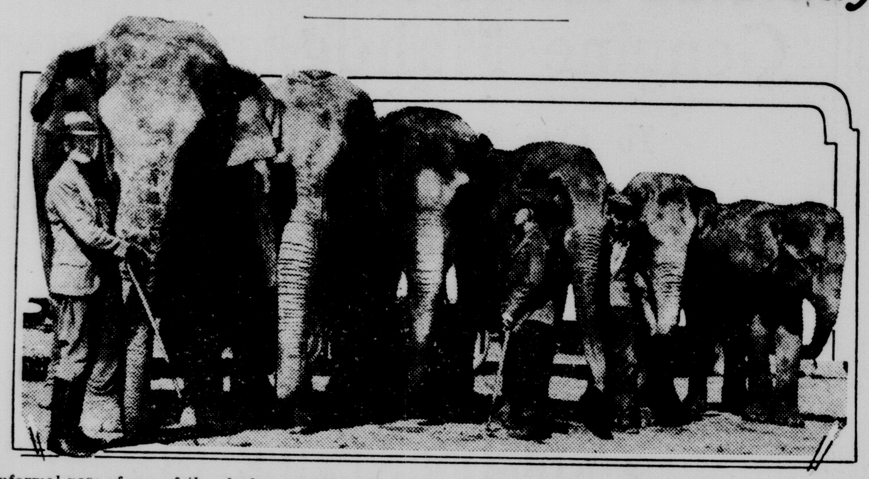
Although McCoy escaped Tuesday, going over the prison wall, no trace of him has yet been found.

McCoy was serving his first sentence at the penitentiary, although he had been confined to jails on five other occasions. He arrived at the state prison during March to serve a term for burglary in Logan county.

Because McCoy had been a model prisoner during his stay at the prison officials there put him to work with a crew constructing a new wall.

A few minutes after he joined the crew, young McCoy slipped over the wall and was off to the mountains.

"Mighty Alice" Leader Of Herd With Wallace Circus Saturday



Informal pose of one of the elephant herds with Wallace Brothers Circus. "Mighty Alice" is at extreme left by trainer, Capt. Tommy Burns.

Circus people love elephants. In fact, nearly everyone is attracted to the great, hulking creatures. That is probably why the Wallace Brothers Circus, starring Hoot Gibson, has a large number of elephants in its dazzling new 1937 performance.

When the big show arrives in New Castle for two performances on May 1, you'll see the children, and grown-ups, too gathered around the elephant herds the first thing in the morning.

In the Wallace Brothers performance the elephants attain new prominence as they perform so many new acts. They are seen in three spectacular displays, all under the direction of Capt. Tommy Burns, assisted by a half dozen other trainers.

"Mighty Alice" is the queen of the herds and elephant men say all of the others look to her for guidance. She is "boss" in every way—and a very intelligent one, they say. Her age is given as 178, based on circus tradition, and she is regarded as the oldest elephant now on the road. But she is very healthy and active and can perform far better than many in the herd who are between 30 and 40 years old. She even dances the "Black Bottom".

The elephants consume tons of peanuts daily, fed by admiring friends in the menagerie, but this doesn't seem to affect their appetite for their staple hay and bran mash diet. Their food order is one of the biggest items on the daily expense sheet of the big circus.

Officials Meet For Discussion Of Flood Control

Seek Some Concrete Plan For Prevention Of Disastrous River Floods

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—Officials of Western Pennsylvania prepared to meet here today with plans for flood control to avert future inundations, as the state's turbulent rivers began to recede to their normal depth.

A plan for an interstate agreement that would bind the flood-ravaged states of the Ohio valley to aid the government in a general flood control program was the chief item on today's agenda.

Meanwhile, Pittsburgh's rivers receded below the dangerous 25-foot stage as families in riverside communities dug themselves out of the mud left by the overflow and returned to their homes.

Aluminum Company Wins Victory

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 29.—A preliminary victory was scored by the Aluminum Company of America here today when Federal Judge R. M. Gibson granted it a temporary order halting the government's prosecuting of charges of violating the anti-trust laws.

Court action to break up what he termed a monopoly was instituted against the huge Mellon-controlled corporation several days ago by Attorney General Homer Cummings. The temporary restraining order signed by Judge Gibson specifically halts the government action filed in the southern district of New York, according to court attaches.

The present litigation dates back several years and is the latest in a series instituted by the government against the company and its affiliates.

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, April 29.—Another of Hollywood's "perfect marriages" apparently was on the rocks today when Gene Markey, screen writer, moved out of the home he and Actress Joan Bennett have maintained for five year.

The couple said the separation was "friendly" and gave "incompatibility" as the reason for the rift.

Miss Bennett announced she would file suit for divorce as soon as she completes work on a picture now under production.

The actress, member of the famous theatrical family, and the socialite writer were married five years ago and friends proclaimed it "the perfect match".

Miss Bennett formerly was the wife of John Marion Fox, Seattle, Wash., sportsman, by whom she has one child, Diana, 9. She and Markey also have one child, Melinda 3.

The answer to "his" first proposal of marriage should be "no." That is the advice of Rev. Howard M. Wells, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of East Cleveland. "Always give him an experimental 'no' even though you might want to say 'yes,'" the pastor told the fifth annual marriage institute for young men and young women. "Then wait a few days," he advised. "If your answer makes you feel relieved you have done the right thing." If you are not relieved, then answer in the affirmative the second time. Rev. Walls urged. Dictionaries give the pronunciation as "boor-zhwazee."

SEVEN PENN STATE TEAMS IN ACTION

Nittany Lions To Be Active At Home And Away For Week End

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 29.—Seven Penn State teams will swing into action tomorrow and Saturday as the spring sports schedule enters its most active month. Five contests are listed as home attractions and two Lion aggregations will invade foreign territory.

Heading the local cards is the baseball game with Villanova. Last year, the Wildcats handed Penn State one of its four defeats in a free-hitting contest. Off to a flying start this season, Coach Joe Bedenk's nine will attempt to wipe out last season's loss.

The Lion lacrosse team, victorious in three out of four starts and boasting a winning spurt of three games, will meet the Lehigh ten on New Beaver field. With Captain Jack Conley and Jake Hoft, two veterans, pacing the attack, the stickmen have served advanced notice of being one of the best teams coached here by Nick Thiel.

Bob Rutherford's golf team will celebrate the opening of his sixteenth year as mentor of the linksmen. The sextet which will attempt to continue one of the finest sports records established at Penn State probably will be composed of co-captains Johnny Bennett and Jay Albere, Bob Siegler, Joe Stevenson, and Bernie Burkett, veterans, and Bill Gross, a sophomore. Another golf match is scheduled, a Nittany junior varsity opposing Cornell. It is the first time such a team has been organized here.

Houck Coaches Baseball

Winding up the home schedule will be a freshman baseball contest between Penn State and Cornell, which replaces Bucknell. Under Coach Leo Houck, varsity boxing mentor, the Lion Cubs started off their season impressively last week by downing Mercersburg 12 to 3. Milan Buchan, who has already won his numerals with the freshman football and basketball teams, will probably get the pitching assignment from Houck.

Fresh from a favorable showing at the Penn relays, the track and field team will engage the Navy at Annapolis. Individual members of the three quartets which won third places at the relays will be watched as they perform in their specialties. Under coach Bob Lake for the first time, the Nittany tennis team will meet Penn in Philadelphia tomorrow in the opening match of the season and Lehigh at Bethlehem Saturday.

Chicago Pitcher Stops Line Drive, Breaks Two Fingers, Mungo Tames Giants

PHILLIES TOP BOSTON BEES

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—Burleigh Grimes, truculent manager of the Dodgers, is more than ever convinced today that his pitching staff will compare favorably with any other in the National League.

Moreover, Burleigh feels assured that not many clubs will show much more power than his Dodgers pack at the plate.

"Van Mungo should be the best pitcher in the league this year," said Burleigh. "I've never seen anybody faster than he was against the Giants yesterday and I think he's a sure bet to win more than 20 games."

Mungo Master

Mungo certainly was all that his manager said. The big fellow let the Giants down with three hits to gain a 3-2 decision over Hal Schumacher who had beaten him on opening day.

Injuries and illness have handicapped the Dodgers but when Grimes is able to put his full strength on the field, they will not be pushovers for anybody.

The surprising Phillies held to their early high estate by pouncing on Danny MacFayden of the Bees for six runs and nine hits in the opening frame and went on to win behind Claude Passeau, 7 to 4. In all his long career, Danny probably never received such a quick and vicious shellacking.

Reds Beat Cubs

The Reds finally broke into the victory column at the expense of the Cubs who seem to have some trouble getting their pitching staff under way. The Reds fell on Larry French for six runs in the opening stanza and after that it was a simple matter for Paul Derringer to ease in, 10 to 3. A line drive off the bat of Ernie Lombardi in the first inning broke two fingers on the right hand of Larry French. He will be out for a month.

The Yanks continue to roll along in the American League behind classy pitching and heavy hitting. Lefty Gomez let the hard-hitting Senators down with five hits for a 6-1 verdict over Cascarella, and, while wild at times, the Irish-Castilian had all the speed that made him a stand-out two years ago.

Harder Beats Sox

Mel Harder of the Indians also had a five-hitter up his sleeve and had no trouble trimming the White Sox, with Lee and Rigney operating, 7 to 2.

The Browns got to Roxie Lawson of the Tigers for 11 hits but he had no trouble winning 11 to 5, because his buddies fell on Hildebrand, Caldwell, Van Atta and Tietje for fifteen smacks, including a homer by Walker.

There may be some doubt as to how Mickey Cochrane's pitching will stand up but there is no doubt about the Tigers' power—they have it.

PLAYER LISTS MUST BE IN

Player lists for the Business Men's Golf League must be in the hands of either Mr. Walther or Mr. McCoy, president and secretary respectively of the league, not later than Saturday of this week. The league opens next Monday night at Castle Hills course. Each team is allowed a player list of 12 men.

Grimes Razzes Modern Baseball As Sissies' Game

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Burleigh Grimes, belligerent manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today foresaw "baseball becoming a sissies' game within five years if the umpires have their way."

The hard-boiled Grimes, whose ire was aroused by being banished from two consecutive games, then added: "Hard-boiled, tobacco-chewing old-timers made baseball, but if some of these umpires have their way we'll be playing baseball with lace frills on our pants. Tobacco-chewing will be out and powder-puffs will be in and we'll all be afraid to slide so we'll look nice."

Tenpin Tourney Is About To End

Only Few Days Left For ABC Bowlers In New York City

By GLEN R. BIRCHARD
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—Tonight marks the final bid of mid-western teams for prize money and other forms of recognition in the American Bowling Congress tournament here. Toledo is offering one team and Detroit another. The balance of the tourney, which ends with matinee events bowling early next Tuesday night, will see none but eastern teams and individuals in action.

Of the 40 places among the high 10 in the four events, only 10 are held by the east, its best showing being in the singles event in which four men sit among the selects.

Last night three New Jersey teams put in good bids for a place "on the board", but failed. Nevertheless they cut in for goodly portions of the prize fund. Kerians of Bloomfield shot best, getting 2947 with a feature closing game of 1091. Hemphill Deisels of Newark hit 2924 and Eclipse Aviation of East Orange 2911.

George Brueschwyler of Irvington, N. J., led the singles parade with a 664, and the doubles honors of the day were claimed by Gus Boch and Harry Cook of Newark with their 1263.

Eunice Dean of San Antonio, North and South champion, defeated Ellen Bates of St. Louis, 6-2, 6-0 in the second round of the women's singles of the annual Hot Springs, Va., tennis tournament yesterday. Florence Le Boutellier of Old Estbury, L. I., beat Eliza Coxe of Ashville, N. C., former southern champion, 6-1, 6-1 and Barbara Nields of Chicago, eliminated Alice Burrage 6-4, 6-2.

Gus Bach and Hary Cook, of Newark, N. J., topped the doubles teams in the American Bowling congress tourney last night at New York, in a mild session, which constrasted strongly with Tuesday night's uproar over Max Stein's record breaking all-events total. Bach and Cook produced a 1,263 doubles total. Geo. Bruesch, of Irvington, N. J., was top man in the singles with a total of 664.

Grove City college came out victorious in its first home tennis match of the season, defeating Clarion 9 to 0.... Arturo Godoy, Chilean heavyweight, defeated Tony Galento, Newark heavyweight in 10 rounds at New York.... Fred Stroble, three decades ago, one of the country's best hockey players, died at Pittsburgh, yesterday.. Jack Torrence, Olympic shotput star, was knocked out in the second round at New York last night. Abe Simon turned the trick. They are heavyweights.... Gettysburg beat Penn State in baseball 4 to 1, at State College.

Derby Candidates Reach Louisville

(International News Service)

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29—The Kentucky derby colony moved here en masse today for the performance of a half dozen three year olds in their final derby test.

The event is the renewal of the $5000 blue grass stakes at a mile and an eighth, and the Kentucky bred and owned entries are headed by Col. E. R. Bradley's Brooklyn and billionaire, made the overnight favorite.

The Bradley horses were held at 1 to 2 in the overnight wagering for the grand finale of Keeneland's spring racing season.

Gosum and Galsum, Warren Wright's derby hopes, were held at 2 to 1 in the morning line. Hal price Headley's old Massau, and Maxwell Howard's fencing were held at 10 to 1.

Meanwhile, formidable derby contestants were becoming acclimated at the downs. War Admiral, the Santa Anita derby winner Fairy Hill and Townsend B. Martin's court scandal moved in from Havre De Grace yesterday.

Jack Torrance Is Knocked Out

Abe Simon Shoots Over Right Cross In Second Round, Torrance Goes To Sleep

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 29.—It becomes evident now what Jack Phillips, the vanishing American, ran away from that night in Baton Rouge was a vanishing athlete. Anyhow, we had another night last night here at one of our fight clubs, with the result that Jack Torrance, the victor by total abstinence at Baton Rouge, became the vanquished by knockout at the New York Hippodrome.

The New York Hippodrome didn't even use stationary this time, only Abe Simon, who propelled our hero into oblivion—or words to that effect—with a right cross in 1:02 of the second round. It was much worse than anything you can imagine and much better than Baton Rouge where Torrance, holder of the world's record for the shot put, had scored five straight knockouts—including one by total abstinence. At least we didn't have Phillips leaving the arena before his own knockout last night. There was reason, in fact, to believe that he couldn't even make the arena on a pass from the New York Boxing Commission.

Another thing that went wrong was that we gave Torrance a six-ounce glove instead of a sixteen-pound shot. He had hair on his shoulder blades and calves like a drought horse. But you can't hit anybody with either and so Mr. Torrance was at a distinct loss. He didn't have anything else. The result would have been humorous, if it hadn't been so tragic.

League Assembly To Meet Monday

The church league assembly will have a meeting at the "Y" on Monday night at 7:30 o'clock to talk over plans for this summer. Whether or not the church league will have softball or baseball will be decided at the meeting.

Hero And Goat

(International News Service)

The hero—Earl Averill, who hit a home run with bases full as Indians beat White Sox, 7 to 2.

The goat—Hal Schumacher, Giants' hurler, who was sent to showers in eighth after allowing nine hits as Dodgers won, 3 to 2.

Mr. Roosevelt doubtless knows best. But if the referee keeps still when one side breaks the rules, the other side usually breaks some more.

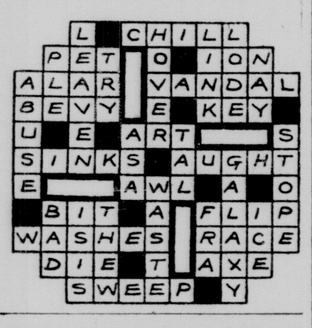
Answer to previous puzzle:



TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 29—Joe Copps dropped in to utter a few well chosen words concerning the knights of the roaring road who will pursue fame and fortune May 30 over the hot bricks of Indianapolis speedway . . . it's Joe's job to publicize the world's biggest automobile race, so Joe is always sure that his words are well chosen.

"The hoofbeats of the horses in the Kentucky Derby will still be echoing," said Joe, "when the roar of a million horsepower (Editor's Note: More or less) will rend the Indiana sky. Why, they're roaring down there already. Wild Bill Cummings roared around the other day in 123½ miles an hour a record-breaking dash. Just a workout!

"Funny thing about that run. Bill was driving a new car, and the engine is still a little stiff. Furthermore, he was using straight run-of-mine gasoline. This year the drivers are not allowed to use doped gasoline. They have to take the commercial product just as it comes out of the pump.

"In former years, every driver had some secret formula for gasoline. They mixed their juice with the greatest secrecy. Some added as many as five or six chemicals to step up the speed and horsepower. But Wild Bill's run makes it appear all their laboratory efforts were wasted. Bill's time was only a whisper away from the all-time lap record of 124.018 miles an hour set by the veteran Leon Duray, back in 1928. Duray was driving a single-seater, super-charged car that had been elaborately prepared. When Bill's new car is broken in, he'll run that record off the books.

"Another record will come off the books this year, too. There'll be a brand new crowd total, at least a couple of thousand above the 150,000 that saw the race last Memorial Day. Orders are away ahead of last year. This will set a brand new mark for American sports crowds. Well, where will you find a bigger crowd—at a ball game, football, horse race?"

That's right, Joe, that's the biggest crowd. In England they have about twice that many at the Grand National steeplechase, but that's in England. And football draws crowds over there comparable to the Indianapolis throng. Odd, that speed should be the lure that brings America's greatest turnout. Speed, thrills and—danger!

"Yeah, there is danger," Joe admitted. "Anything on four wheels going over 100 miles an hour is a bit risky. But people have been killed falling out of rocking chairs, too. And though we've had deaths at Indianapolis, none of the topliners has been killed. It's safer now, too, since the turns have been resurfaced with asphalt blocks. The composition is not as skiddy as the bricks used to be."

Now for a question. How about the winter books on the drivers? Were there any short-priced favorites this year? What driver would the crowd make a favorite if parimutuels were installed under the stands?

"Lou Meyer probably will be favorite," said Copps. "And why not? He has won the race three times, and he's the greatest judge of pace that ever drove over the course. He'll take chances, too, but not unless they're necessary. He figures a certain speed will win the race, a certain average, that is. Then he goes out and sticks to that speed.

"You don't see much of Lou during the early laps of the race. Maybe he's plugging away along about ninth or tenth. The daredevils are up front making a lot of noise, whooping it up, battling for the lead. But Lou doesn't pay any attention to them. When he comes to the pits, he asks, 'How'm I doing?' They tell him he's doing 110 or something like that.

Market Rebounds One To Three Points In Most Of Leading Stocks

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—Stocks rebounded one to more than three points today. The ticker fell behind for a time. Fresh buying in the second hour lifted the main body of stocks into new high ground for the day.

Chrysler was a spectacular performer in the motor department, as was Bethlehem in steels. Chrysler jumped more than three points, Bethlehem better than two.

Other steels and motors, along with most of the rails and coppers, were substantially above previous closing levels. U. S. Steel climbed more than two and general Motors about a point. In carriers, Atchison featured with a climb of four points. American Smelting and Anaconda each advanced more than a point.

Independent weakness was shown by the gold shares, Homestake slumping 24 points into new low ground. Alaska Juneau also reached a new bottom as did Dome Mines on a drop of more than two.

Amusements, rubbers, aviations, oils and utilities were generally firm.

Bonds pointed irregularly higher, with governments chalking up substantial gains. Grains were strong. Cotton was little changed.

Many Activities Planned By Elks

Elaborate Mothers Day Banquet And Program Tops List Of Events

SOCIAL EVENTS TO OCCUR SATURDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, April 29.—There is no denial that the Ellwood City Elks Lodge is regaining its prestige of former years as an active, go-getting and beneficial organization, judging from the carefully planned program of activities and events to be carried out on a regular schedule.

These plans were announced at the regular session of the lodge Wednesday night in their rooms on Chescent avenue with the newly elected officers in charge for the first time.

The local Elks, who in the good by-gone years, had a cracker-jack baseball team, which played with some of the outstanding semi-pro teams in the country, have once again gone into this field. This time they will be in the role of providing recreation and building talent. Chairman J. Lloyd Steckman of the entertainment committee, announced that the lodge is sponsoring a team here in the newly formed American Legion Junior Baseball League. A capable committee, headed by Jim Fitzgerald, is in charge of coaching the team. The team will be one of the best equipped in the field, and if uniforms will add to the playing ability, then the local Elks teams should be a world-beater.

Mr. Steckman announced that the entertainment committee has arranged a program of entertainment and dancing at the lodge for every Saturday until further notice. Two highly successful affairs have already been held. This Saturday will be known as Elks Amateur Night at which local members and their friends will be given an opportunity to display their ability in entertainment. There will be dancing during the evening.

Heading the list of activities is an elaborate Mother's Day banquet and entertainment to be held in the ballroom on May 9. A special committee, headed by Joe Reilly, is arranging a top-notch program. The principal speaker will be the Hon. R. A. Nagel, a brother Elk.

On May 21 a real Elks Maytime Frolic is scheduled. Plans are in progress to make this one of the outstanding social events of the season. Joe Wilkoffsky heads the committee in charge and Lonnie Witherow is in charge of the music.

The next regular meeting of the lodge will take place in two weeks.

Fatal Shooting Is Outcome Of Sit-Down Strike

(International News Service)

FORT WORTH, Tex., April 29.—Mrs. Edna Burnside, 35, was in jail today for questioning in the fatal shooting of her husband—the climax of a "sit-down strike."

The shooting of Burnside, a former Wichita Falls convict paroled from a 99-year murder sentence, followed Mrs. Burnside's threat she was going on a sit-down strike unless he "could make me a living or something."

Re-enacting the shooting Mrs. Burnside said they had argued about her threat to sit down, and she picked up an automatic pistol which she told police she didn't know was loaded. "I didn't even aim it," she said because her husband had remarked it wasn't loaded.

But it was, and Burnside received a fatal slug in his forehead.

Famous Actor Is Summoned

William Gillette, 80, Who Played "Sherlock Holmes" Many Years, Dies

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., April 29.—Shades were drawn in fictional Baker street today. Dr. Watson moved about as if in a trance. Sherlock Holmes was dead.

In real life this Sherlock Holmes of the stage was William Gillette, 80, known to theater-goers of still an earlier generation as the star of "Secret Service," a Civil war drama. Gillette died this morning at Hartford hospital where he had been resting for the past month.

For 25 Years

For a quarter of a century, Gillette played the role of the fictional Sherlock Holmes in theaters from coast to coast—played it so well that all other Sherlock Holmes impersonators patterned their characterization after his.

At least six times he retired from the stage and each was plagued by theater managers until he agreed to "just one more tour."

Two years ago, Sherlock Holmes was given another brief revival but Gillette, now an old man, found his strength waning, and the tour was cut short.

Closest relative of the dead man was John F. Hooker, a Hartford insurance official, who is making arrangements for the funeral services.

"WILD MAN" ARRESTED

It was a day of humiliation for the "wild man of Borneo" when he was arrested in the wildest moments of his act at Nylstroom, South Africa. For some days hundreds of farmers had been paying to see him at the fair. Chained to a post, the awe-inspiring creature, covered with long, thick hair, ravenously devoured raw meat, cracking the bones and generally striking terror into the hearts of the simple folk from the back country. It would not have been so bad if the police had arrested him for being wild, but he was charged with having dodged his taxes since 1931.
